Abstract: Section 47 (a) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code and the regulations thereunder provide the general rule that if section 38 property is disposed of there shall be recapture of investment credit. Section 1.1502-3 (f) (2) provides an exception to that rule for the transfer of section 38 property between members of an affiliated group; such a transfer will not cause a disposition within the meaning of section 47 (a) (1). This exception is premised on treating the affiliated group, for investment tax credit purposes, as a single entity that continues to own the property after the transfer. Such a premise is not justified, and the exception does not apply, if at the time of the transfer there is an intent that the property subsequently leave the group in a transaction described in section 1.1502-13 (f). See Rev. Rul. 82-20, 1982-1 CB 6. In such a case, recapture is appropriate. The regulation will amend section 1.1502-3 (f) (2) to make this explicit.

Abstract: When a subsidiary declares a dividend while a member of a consolidated group, but pays the dividend after disaffiliation from the consolidated group, the basis of the subsidiary's stock is not reduced by the amount of the dividend. The problem is caused by a difference in timing of the two events in (payment of dividend and declaration of dividend) and its effect on earnings and profits and basis. This regulation will alleviate the problem by providing that basis of the subsidiary's stock will be reduced when the subsidiary declares a dividend.

Abstract: If a U.S. Corporation is subject to a foreign country's tax on worldwide income, or on a residence basis as opposed to a source basis, any taxable loss it incurs cannot reduce the taxable income of any other member of a U.S. affiliated group for any other taxable year. Where a corporation is subject to foreign tax on a residence basis, then for U.S. purposes, its loss will be available to offset income of that corporation in other years, but not income of another U.S. Corporation. Regulations may exempt a U.S. corporation from this rule to the extent that its losses do not offset the income of foreign corporations for foreign tax purposes.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The regulations would provide guidance for taxpayers who either grant or receive incentive stock options. The grant of an incentive stock option to an employee by an employer will not be a taxable event. At the time such option is exercised by the employee no amount of the spread between the fair market value of the stock at exercise and the option price will be included in the employee's gross income. When the stock acquired through the exercise of the option is sold, the entire gain will be treated as capital gain and not ordinary income if certain holding period and employment relationship requirements are met.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1986; 26 USC 904 (f) Internal Revenue Code of 1986; PL 97-248, Sec 211

Abstract: The regulations would provide rules for determining the amount of and recapturing overall foreign losses. An overall foreign loss under any one of the separate limitations on the foreign tax credit may offset the taxpayer's United States tax on United States source income in the year of the loss. The recapture rules provide that a portion of the taxpayer's foreign taxable income under the same limitation in subsequent years is to be recharacterized as United States source income, thereby reducing the taxpayer's foreign tax credit and preventing a double tax benefit from the loss.

Organization of the Agenda

The agenda is organized by statute, and in several cases it combines regulations with differing statutory authorities that have closely related subject matter. For example, the Asbestos-in-Schools Inspection, Abatement, and Disposal regulation is written under AHERA, but appears with regulations under TSCA.

Within each statutory listing, the regulations are ordered numerically, by section number of the authorizing legislation. For example, all RCRA regulations under section 3001 appear before those under section 3006.

Within each statutory area the entries are further divided into four categories: (1) Prerule Stage; (2) Proposed Rule Stage; (3) Final Rule Stage; and (4) Completed Actions (regulations that EPA is deleting from the agenda because the Agency has completed, withdrawn, or postponed them indefinitely). Detailed information on each of these sections is presented below.

Appendix A includes a list of abbreviations of terms used in this document.

I. Prerulemakings

Prerulemaking actions include activities intended to determine whether or how to initiate rulemaking. These activities include anything that influences or leads to rulemaking, such as advance notices of proposed rulemaking, significant studies or analyses of the possible need for regulatory action, requests for public comment on the need for regulatory action, or important pre-regulatory policy proposals.

This section also includes existing EPA regulations that are now under review. The purpose of such reviews is to determine whether the Agency should revise the rule, rescind it, or leave it unchanged. When finished, the Agency will list these reviews in the completed section of the agenda. If EPA decides to revise or rescind the regulation, the action will appear in the proposed rule section of the next agenda, which will state the timetable for completing the revision or rescission.

For each regulation under review, the agenda provides the title, a short abstract, legal authority, CFR reference, any analysis EPA is preparing, contact person, and the schedule for completing the review. It also indicates the "review authority," which may be different from the regulation's statutory authority. EPA reviews regulations under various mandates, and some reviews satisfy more than one of these mandates. The principal mandates are:

Executive Order 12498 which is intended to establish annually the Administration's Regulatory Program. It defines priority activities that federal departments and agencies will work on during the upcoming year. Its purpose is to minimize duplication and conflict among regulatory activities and enhance public understanding of the Administration's regulatory objectives.

Executive Order 12291 which establishes the general policy that federal departments and agencies should review their regulations to ensure that the costs of the regulations are justified by the benefits of the regulation.

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) which requires that federal departments and agencies review existing regulations that have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, including small businesses, small organizations, and small governments, at least once every ten years. EPA invites public comment regarding RFA issues on the list of regulations EPA is reviewing.

Reviews EPA has targeted under the RFA are identified in the "Small Entities Affected" category. This year the agenda also identifies the type of entity affected (businesses or governmental jurisdictions and organizations). Also identified is whether the regulatory action affects State, Local, or Federal governments. These changes will enable organizations representing local governments to make greater use of the agenda.

When the Agency completes reviews of regulations with a significant impact on small entities, the agenda entry includes an abstract that announces the Agency's decision of whether to revise, rescind, or leave the regulation unchanged. This announcement complies with the RFA and EPA's July 16, 1981 plan (46 FR 36930) for reviewing regulations under the Act.

The Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA) which requires federal departments and agencies to review their information collection activities to assure that they need and will use the information and manage it efficiently. They must also ensure that the information to be collected is of high quality, appropriate for its intended use, and does not already exist at EPA or at some other federal agency. In addition, the PRA requires agencies to review the cost of collecting the information, so that it will be held to a minimum for both the respondent and the agencies.

II. Proposed and Final Rules

EPA generally lists regulations in this category of the agenda once they are within a year of proposal or final action. Very important regulations under development will usually appear even if the scheduled publication dates are more than a year away.

Proposed and final rules appear as: (a) Actions that will create new CFR parts, subparts, or subsections; or (b) actions that revise or amend already existing CFR parts, subparts, or subsections. The word "revision" will appear in parentheses after the title of each regulation undergoing revision. All regulations appearing in the agenda for the first time are marked with bullets (●).

This section includes all "significant" EPA regulations. Some are priority regulations under development that are subject to Executive Order 12498; or the Agency has designated for priority development or revision. These regulations are also subject to certain provisions of EO 12291, RFA, and PRA.

However, the listings exclude: (a) Specialized categories of actions (such as EPA approvals of State plans and other actions that do not apply nationally); and (b) routine actions (such as pesticide tolerances and minor amendments to existing rules).

For each proposed and final regulation, the agenda includes:

- Title
- Priority classification (if applicable)
- Legal authority
- CFR reference
- Legal deadline (if applicable)
- Short abstract
- Timetable of existing and scheduled actions
- Reference to small entity impacts (yes, no, or undetermined)
- Additional information (includes the FTS phone number for the Agency contact, the Start Action Request (SAR) number, which is assigned to the regulation for internal tracking purposes, and any other information that is not included in the abstract)
- Agency contact
- Analysis section (if the Agency is preparing a Regulatory Impact Analysis (RIA) and/or an RFA)

III. Completed Actions

These are actions that appeared in the last agenda, which EPA is deleting because they are completed or are no longer under consideration. Information on these regulations and reviews of regulations is less detailed than for those that are still under consideration. Generally, entries include: (1) An explanation of why the Agency is deleting the regulation from the agenda, or (2) the publication date and Federal Register citation of the final rule.

Proposed Rule Stage

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will provide a scheme for identifying pesticides which may pose an unacceptable hazard because of the potential to leach into groundwater. The Agency will propose criteria for classifying such pesticides for restricted use. Restricted use pesticides generally may be applied only by state certified applicators.

2727. REGISTRATION DATA REQUIREMENTS FOR PESTICIDE PRODUCT PERFORMANCE AND COMPANION PESTICIDE ASSESSMENT GUIDELINES (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136a /FIFRA 3; 7 USC 136w/FIFRA 25

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 158.640

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The objective in revising the regulations is to make explicit the Agency's requirement of pesticide producers to submit quantitative data on the yield/quality enhancing performance of their pesticides as compared to alternative pesticides. These data will improve the quality and timeliness of benefit analyses the Agency uses in making risk/benefit decisions to regulate pesticides under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA). The companion revised guidelines will provide protocols and methodologies for conducting the studies necessary to produce acceptable comparative performance data. Registrants might experience very minor cost increases to register pesticide products. The benefit would be substantial in the form of better and more uniform data on pesticide product performance, for use by Agency analysts and others.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136d/FIFRA 6

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 153

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: FIFRA Section 6(a)(2) requires that registrants report to EPA additional factual information regarding unreasonable adverse effects of their products. In September 1985, EPA revised its 1979 section 6(a)(2) enforcement policy by publishing a notice which expanded upon the types of factual information which must be reported and established uniform timeframes for compliance. In response to comments received on this notice, the Agency is revising it to clarify the types of information which registrants must report to EPA.

EXTEND PROVISIONS OF SECTION 5(E) ORDERS

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2604 /TSCA 5

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 721

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: When the Agency determines that in the absence of adequate safety data, the uncontrolled manufacture, import, processing, distribution, use or disposal of a PMN substance may present an unreasonable risk, it may issue a proposed order under section 5(e) to limit the aforementioned activities. However, section 5(e) orders apply only to the PMN submitter. Once the substance is placed on the TSCA chemical inventory, other persons are free to manufacture, import, or process the substance without controls. Therefore, EPA by rule, designates manufacture, import, or processing of the substances for use without the specified controls as a significant new use. These SNURs ensure that the original submitter is not at a competitive disadvantage and that no uncontrolled activities will occur without an opportunity for prior Agency review.

Abstract: Under the authority of the Toxic Substances Control Act, the agency is proposing two separate regulatory actions for manufacturers, importers, and processors of certain microbial products of biotechnology. Under section 5, the Agency is proposing to amend its definition of "small quantities solely for research and development" contained in the Premanufacture Notification (PMN) Rule, thereby requiring persons to submit notices prior to testing new microorganisms in the environment. This amendment will require reporting for new microorganisms and will establish a special notification mechanism for experimental releases of microorganisms. EPA also is proposing significant new use notification requirements under section 5(a)(2), which would ensure that EPA will receive for review, notices of large scale releases of other microorganisms developed for significant new uses, and will review small-scale environmental releases, possibly with assistance from environmental biosafety committees (EBCs), peer review committees to be sponsored by researchers and accredited by EPA. In addition, the Agency may be proposing (SEE ABSTRACT CONTINUED UNDER THE ADDITIONAL INFORMATION SECTION)

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1504/TSCA 5

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 723

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Under the authority of the Toxic Substances Control Act, the Agency will propose to exempt from review new microorganisms used in certain closed and contained systems. The Agency considers it a priority to exempt from consideration organisms that can be shown to meet the statutory requirements under section 5(h)(4) of TSCA. To meet those requirements, it must be shown that the substances will not present unreasonable risks. EPA is considering public comment received and other evidence concerning use of microorganisms in closed systems and other controlled environments to determine whether those categories satisfy the requirements of section 5(h)(4) of TSCA.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2605 / TSCA 6; 15 USC 2608 / TSCA 9

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: As described in the Federal Register on May 23, 1984, the Agency has been investigating regulatory options for the reduction of three categories of exposure to formaldehyde: 1) residents exposed to formaldehyde emissions from wood products used in the construction of manufactured homes; 2) similarly exposed residents of conventional homes; 3) apparel manufacture employees exposed to formaldehyde released from treated fabrics. Because OSHA proposed a standard in December 1985 that applies to all occupational exposure, EPA has terminated its investigation with respect to apparel manufacturing employees. Investigation of risks from exposure to formaldehyde emissions from wood products is being conducted in consultation with HUD and CPSC. This investigation may lead to the initiation of various control alternatives, including section 9 referral to other agencies and/ or section 6 regulations.

Abstract: EPA, in consultation with the Consumer Product Safety Commission, Occupational Safety and Health Administration, and Food and Drug Administration, is developing a comprehensive and integrated strategy for a regulatory investigation of methylene chloride and five other chlorinated solvents. In some cases, these chlorinated solvents are competitive and can be easily substituted for each other in a number of uses. The integrated effort is being conducted to reach general agreement on the risks associated with the solvents and to avoid ineffective risk management actions that may occur due to solvent switching or pollutant transfer among media which could be caused by piecemeal regulation. Data are being gathered for six solvents (methylene chloride, perchloroethylene, trichloroethylene, methyl chloroform, carbon tetrachloride, and CFC-113) and their potential substitutes. This regulatory investigation is focused on three major use categories: metal cleaning, paint stripping, and aerosol application. The investigation will determine whether coordinated regulatory controls are needed to eliminate or reduce exposure to these solvents.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2605 / TSCA 6

Abstract: Asbestos is a known human carcinogen. Persons are exposed to asbestos from releases to the environment during all phases of the lifecycle of asbestos products. Because of the serious risk presented to many people from exposure to asbestos during the lifecycle of asbestos products, EPA has proposed a rule under Section 6 of TSCA to ban certain asbestos products for which substitutes are currently available and to phase out all or most asbestos mining and importation over 10 years.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: These rules add chemicals to the list of chemicals and designated mixtures subject to the requirements of the TSCA Section 8(a) Preliminary Assessment Information Rule (40 CFR Part 712). These chemicals are identified by OTS, other EPA offices, and other Agencies, as well as chemicals recommended by the Inter-agency Testing Committee (ITC) on the TSCA Section 4(e) priority list. Manufacturers and importers are required to submit exposure-related data (EPA Form No. 7710-35) on the chemicals. These data will be used to monitor the levels of production, import and/or processing of these substances and the avenues of human and environmental exposure to these substances. On July 25, 1986 the final regulation was remanded to the EPA by the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals in response to a joint motion filed by the Agency and other parties to litigation challenging the regulation. EPA removed the BAT, NSPS, PSNS, and PSES pesticide regulation from the Code of Federal Regulations at the direction of the Court, and informed the public that the regulation is no longer effective (December 15, 1986; 51 FR 44911). The Agency intends to establish new effluent limitation guidelines and standards for the pesticide manufacturers and formulators/packagers industry in a future rulemaking. 2793. GUIDELINES FOR CLASSIFYING GROUND WATER UNDER THE EPA GROUND WATER PROTECTION STRATEGY

Significance: Regulatory Program
Legal Authority: Clean Water Act
CFR Citation: 40 CFR Not applicable
Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In August 1984, EPA issued a Ground water Protection Strategy to provide objectives to guide the Agency's efforts to protect ground water. One of the major goals announced in the strategy was to achieve greater consistency in decisionmaking among the many EPA programs in protecting ground water. The strategy also indicated that EPA would consider the value and vulnerability of ground water in developing protection and cleanup approaches. The classification guidelines implement these goals by providing technical information that will be useful in the evaluation of the vulnerability and value of a particular ground water unit, and by detailing a classification system that can be incorporated as a factor in program decision-making. Both could lead to greater consistency in decisions and assist in the identification of the most valuable and vulnerable ground waters, so that they receive appropriate attention. The agency will finalize the guidelines based on public comments received.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In this amendment the Agency will provide a mechanism for permit adjustments for treatment plants served by Combined Sewer Systems similar to that which was recently promulgated (June 3, 1985) for separate sewer systems. The existing regulation requires 85% removal of BOD5 and suspended solids (85% for equivalent treatment) from treatment plants served by combined sewers during dry weather flow conditions. Problems exist in meeting these requirements when plants experience less concentrated influents.

Abstract: On August 15, 1985, the Agency promulgated generally applicable environmental standards for the management and disposal of spent nuclear fuel, high-level and transuranic radioactive wastes. These Standards applied to management and disposal of such materials generated by activities under the jurisdiction of the Department of Energy or regulated by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. They established limits for the release of radioactive materials to the environment. Subsequent to promulgation of this rule, several petitions for review were filed and consolidated in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit. As of September 23, 1987 the Court vacated and remanded Subpart B of the Standards to the Agency for revision consistent with its ruling.

For Final Guidance

Abstract: EPA has promulgated new public notification requirements regarding lead contamination of drinking water to implement section 1417(a)(2) of the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA). The new public notification requirements for lead require public water systems to identify and provide notice to persons who may be affected by lead contamination in their drinking water, where such contamination results from the use of lead in the construction materials of the distribution system. Section 1417(b) provides that the lead public notification requirements in section 1417(a)(2) shall be enforced in all States as of June 19, 1988. EPA is authorized to withhold up to five percent of a State's section 1443(a) public water system supervision program grant if the Agency determines that the State is not enforcing the prohibition and public notice requirements for lead. The existing grant regulations, specifically 40 CFR Part 35, do not need to be changed to accommodate this withholding. EPA will publish a guidance document that will implement this part of the SDWA as soon as it is available.

REGULATION

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 33 USC 1251 /CWA 311(j)(1)(c)

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 112

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Following a major oil spill with substantial environmental impacts, an interagency task force reviewed the adequacy of regulations concerning the prevention and control of oil spills. The task force recommended a significant upgrade to the Oil Pollution Prevention Regulation and an inventory of the regulated community. Because of the need for rapid upgrade of the regulation and the time required to inventory the regulated industry, a two phased regulatory approach is being pursued. In Phase I, widely accepted industry practices that are currently recommended practices in the regulation will be changed to required practices. Also, to facilitate an inventory of facilities subject to the regulation, a provision will be added requiring facilities to notify EPA of their existence. The Phase II regulatory effort will address other recommended modifications. The costs of the regulation will be compliance costs for the minority of facilities not complying with basic industry practices contained in the guidelines section of the current regulation. Regulatory Determination Notice due 01/30/90

Abstract: EPA is presently developing a list of "high-volume, low-hazard" ore processing wastes for study under Section 8002(p) of RCRA, in response to an opinion of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit (EDF v. EPA, No. 86-1584, July 29, 1988). EPA will then conduct a Section 8002 study of those processing wastes excluded from Subtitle C regulation by the "Bevill Amendment" [3001 (b)(3)(A) RCRA]. The study will culminate in a Report to Congress in July 1989. RCRA Section 3001(b)(3) requires the Agency, after public hearings and public comment, to determine within six months of submitting the report, whether to regulate any of these wastes under RCRA Subtitle C.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 /RCRA 3001; 42 USC 6922 /RCRA 3002

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 261.4(c)

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend an exemption in 40 CFR 261.4(c) which is currently limited to product or raw material vessels, so that it will apply to all vessels. The result of this change would be that all vessel operators, both product and non-product, would be regulated the same. In both cases, hazardous wastes generated on-board ships would not be subject to the RCRA regulations for storage, manifesting, etc., until the waste is removed from the ship. The discharge of any wastes while underway is governed by regulations issued under the provision of the Clean Water Act, Rivers and Harbors Act, Refuse Act, CERCLA/SARA, and others.

Abstract: Burning of hazardous waste in boilers for the purpose of heat recovery is currently exempt from regulation under RCRA. The Hazardous and Solid Waste Amendments of 1984 require the Agency to develop technical standards for the burning of hazardous waste fuels. This regulation will establish standards for controlling emissions of organic compounds, metals, and hydrogen chloride from boilers and industrial furnaces that burn hazardous waste for any purpose, including energy recovery, material recovery, or destruction.

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory, May 8, 1987.

Abstract: EPA has proposed these regulations under the authority of section 3004(a) and 3004(o)(4) of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. The regulations would require: 1) new landfills, surface impoundments, waste piles, and land treatment units for the treatment, storage, or disposal of hazardous wastes to utilize an approved leak detection system; 2) double liners and leachate collection systems for waste piles, and certain landfills and surface impoundments; and 3) development of a construction quality assurance program for certain landfills and surface impoundments, as well as final covers at land treatment units. EPA originally proposed this rule on May 29, 1987 (52 FR 20218); the Agency will repropose the rule.

Two existing location standards (floodplain and seismic restrictions) at 40 CFR Part 264.18 will be amended based on new data and information. Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6941 to 6949 /RCRA 4001-4009

CFR Citation: 40 CFR Not yet determined

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Based on the first mining waste Report to Congress submitted 12/31/85, comments on the report, and other available information, EPA has determined that regulation of wastes from the extraction and beneficiation of ores and minerals under Subtitle C of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) is not warranted at this time (51 FR 24496). Instead, EPA plans to develop a program for mining waste under Subtitle D of RCRA, working with the States to determine the specific nature of their current mining waste activities and their future plans to administer such programs. EPA will propose a set of criteria for the proper disposal of mining wastes under RCRA Subtitle D authority. EPA will also work with other Federal agencies (e.g., DOI, USGS) to avoid duplication in regulatory efforts.

Abstract: The Guideline Implements Section 6002(e) of RCRA, which requires EPA to designate items which can be produced with recovered materials and to prepare guidelines to assist procurement agencies in complying with the requirements of Section 6002. Once EPA has designated an item, Section 6002 requires that any procuring agency using appropriated Federal Funds to procure that item must purchase such items containing the highest percentage of recovered materials practicable. Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6991 /RCRA 9003

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 280

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, August 8, 1988.

Abstract: This regulation will establish, under Subtitle I of RCRA (as amended by SARA), requirements for demonstrating financial responsibility for taking corrective action and compensating third parties for bodily injury and property damage caused by releases from underground storage tanks (USTs) containing hazardous substances. An ANPRM was published to help gather data (e.g., frequency of releases from such USTs, costs of corrective action and third-party damages, and the regulated

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 355; 40 CFR 370; 40 CFR 372

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Title III of SARA does not specifically address implementation on Indian lands. This regulation will identify Indian Tribes as appropriate implementing authority and will clarify to whom facilities in Indian Country should report under the statute. It is not clear whether States have authority to enforce on Indian Lands. Treating tribes as states will result in universal implementation of the law, and will represent a new burden for tribes which they may not be equipped to handle. For this reason, we are proposing that tribes may enter into cooperative agreements with states or other tribes to share the burden.

Abstract: This action will change the Subpart F ground-water monitoring regulations. The following is a summary of the major changes:

- o allow use of site-specific data on contaminant fate and transport for ground-water monitoring variances;
- o allow flexibility in well installation requirements when access to waste management boundary is difficult;
- o clarify the definition of waste management area and provide flexibility in determining the appropriate monitoring or response programs for individual areas;

o allow flexibility in schedules for submittal of information upon approval by the Regional Administrator (R.A.);

o base the requirement for ground-water flow rate and direction determinations upon site-specific fluctuations in water levels;

o clarify the R.A.'s authority to require monitoring of any flow pathway in the uppermost aquifer and unsaturated zone;

o authority to designate supplemental monitoring wells when justified by complicated monitoring situations; and (see additional information for completion of abstract.)

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Agency is finalizing revisions to the financial responsibility requirements for liability coverage for third-party bodily injury and property damage resulting from accidental occurrences at hazardous waste treatment, storage, and disposal facilities. The revisions are intended to allow greater flexibility in the types of financial instruments that can be used by hazardous waste facility owners and operators who may have encountered difficulties in obtaining insurance or the limited number of other possible instruments to meet liability coverage requirements. Other instruments, such as corporate guarantees, surety bonds, trust funds, and letters of credit, are being authorized through this rulemaking.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6991(b) /RCRA 9003

Abstract: An NSPS was proposed for this source category in 1980. Section 111(d) of the CAA provides a mechanism by which EPA can require states to develop emissions standards for existing sources for certain source categories for which NSPS standards have been developed. This action represents a continuation of the review process for the secondary standards for particulate matter discussed by the Agency on March 20, 1984 (49 FR 10408). The principal welfare effect to be addressed by such a standard is impairment of visibility. CFR Citation: 40 CFR 52

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Judicial, August 31, 1988.

Abstract: Section 169A of the CAA requires that State Implementation Plans (SIPs) contain provisions to remedy existing and prevent future visibility impairment in certain national parks and wilderness areas. In 1980, EPA promulgated guideline regulations for States to follow in developing their SIP revisions (40 CFR 51.300-307). Many States failed to submit adequate visibility SIPs and EPA was sued to force the Agency to promulgate SIPs for such States. EPA entered into a consent decree under which it promulgated SIPs implementing most of the requirements of the visibility regulations in States that have not submitted adequate SIPs. Under the consent decree, EPA has until August 31, 1988 to propose regulations to deal with existing visibility impairment in four States.

2909. NSPS: MUNICIPAL WASTE COMBUSTORS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7411 / CAA 111

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 60

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The EPA has completed a preliminary assessment of air emissions from municipal waste combustors (MWC). Based on this assessment, EPA has concluded that MWC emissions may reasonably be anticipated to contribute to the endangerment of public health and welfare. As a result, EPA issued a notice in the Federal Register (52 FR 25399) that announces its intent to regulate emissions from new and modified MWC under Section 111(b). Pollutants to be regulated will include one or more designated pollutants (pollutants not regulated under Sections 108-110 or 112) thus invoking Section 111(d) which will require States to develop additional emissions standards for existing MWC based on EPA guidelines.

2910. NSPS: MUNICIPAL LANDFILLS

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7411/CAA 111

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 60

EPA—CAA

Proposed Rule Stage

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will regulate emissions from new and modified municipal landfills under Section 111(b). Pollutants to be regulated will include one or more designated pollutants (pollutants not regulated under Section 108 - 110 or 112 of the Act) thus invoking Section 111(d). Section 111(d) will require States to develop emission standards for existing landfills based on EPA guidelines.

2911. NESHAP: COKE OVEN EMISSIONS FROM COKE OVEN CHARGING, DOOR LEAKS, AND TOPSIDE LEAKS ON WET-COAL-CHARGED BATTERIES

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7412 / CAA 112

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 61 G

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory, March 1985.

Abstract: This regulation would control emissions of coke oven emissions, which have been designated as hazardous under section 112. It would require improved maintenance and operation to limit visible emissions from wet-coal-charged coke oven batteries. The standards may apply to charging and leaks from doors, lids, or offtakes for all existing or new sources. A supplemental proposal will be published to reevaluate the standard consistent with the court decision on vinyl chloride. The schedule has been delayed pending a decision on how to respond to a court decision on the Vinyl Chloride NESHAP (see benzene reconsideration).

Abstract: The Agency is considering revising the asbestos NESHAP standard to require the addition of monitoring requirements for asbestos mills, asbestos manufacturing operations and asbestos waste disposal operations. EPA is also considering revising the demolition and renovation standard to require specific recordkeeping and reporting requirements designed to help improve compliance of these sources, which is currently believed to be low. Abstract: EPA issued a notice of intent to list total chromium or hexavalent chromium under Section 112 (50 FR 24317). EPA is further assessing the public health risks of chromium compounds. Also, EPA is investigating emissions of chromium and techniques that are available to control the emissions from 11 identified source categories. If EPA decides that emission standards are warranted, chromium or hexavalent chromium will be listed under Section 112, and EPA will propose standards. Abstract: EPA issued a notice of intent to list total chromium or hexavalent chromium under Section 112 (50 FR 24137). EPA is further assessing the public health risks of chromium compounds. Preliminary assessment performed by EPA has identified industrial process cooling towers as a source category for which the proposal of national emission standards may be warranted. Abstract: EPA issued a notice of intent to list chromium or hexavalent chromium under Section 112 (50 FR 24317). EPA is further assessing the public health risks of chromium compounds. A preliminary assessment performed by EPA has identified chromium electroplating as a source category which emits significant quantities of chromium to the atmosphere and for which the proposal of national emission standards may be warranted. Abstract: This potential regulation would control emissions of 1,3-butadiene, ethylene oxide, ethylene dichloride, chloroform, carbon tetrachloride, perchloroethylene, trichloroethylene, and methylene chloride, as hazardous pollutants under Section 112. The potential regulation would cover the production categories and some use categories for these eight pollutants. U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit has granted EPA's motion to remand radionuclides NESHAPs and decisions not to regulate.

Abstract: EPA addressed the risks to individuals and to populations due to radionuclide emissions to air in rulemaking decisions issued in 1985. Following the Vinyl Chloride decision, EPA requested a voluntary reward from the D.C. Circuit to reconsider its decisions in light of the court's opinion. This action is taken under the authority of Section 112 of the Clean Air Act. Reconsideration will include the following source categories: Department of Commission, Elemental Phosphorous plants, Radon-222 emissions from licensed uranium mill tailings, Coal-fired boilers, uranium fuel cycle facilities, inactive uranium mill tailings, high-level radioactive waste, and phosphogypsum piles. Alternatives the Agency is considering are either the promulgation of emission standards or work practices or a decision not to regulate. These actions will consider the risks due to radionuclides emitted to air from all significant sources (see also benzene reconsideration).

Abstract: The purpose of this action is to prevent significant deterioration of air quality as measured by the new indicator for particulate matter, PM10. The existing PSD program has particulate matter increments based on the original TSP indicator. The EPA has now promulgated a PM10 NAAQS to replace the original TSP-based particulate matter NAAQS. Significance: Regulatory Program

Abstract: Through this action, EPA will consider the establishment of more stringent hydrocarbon emission standards for light-duty trucks based upon the belief that very cost-effective hydrocarbon control is available from these vehicles. The new standards for lighter light-duty trucks would be no more stringent than the existing passenger car standard and an equivalently stringent standard for heavier light-duty trucks. In the ANPRM, EPA also requested comments on the possibility of tighter carbon monoxide standards for light-duty trucks.

Abstract: In March 1985 the EPA promulgated NOx and PM emission standards for heavy-duty vehicles and engines. The rulemaking included a provision for emissions averaging for the final stages of standard implementation in order to mitigate the economic impact of the stringent standards. EPA realized that the averaging mechanism could provide more benefits to manufacturers with a broader product line. In order to address this issue, EPA included in the final package a provision to study the potential for mitigating this uneven distribution of benefits through an emissions credit trading program. The study was expanded to include the concept of 'banking' emissions credit. The study has been completed and made available to the public and a technical workshop was held in January 1987. EPA is analyzing the comments received from the public and from the workshop.

Abstract: This action will address the availability of nonconformance penalties (NCPs) and specific upper limits and penalty rates for 1991 through 1994 model year emission standards for heavy-duty vehicles and engines. The availability of NCPs will allow a manufacturer, whose vehicles or engines fail to conform with certain applicable emission standards, but which do not exceed a designated upper limit, to be issued a certificate of conformity upon payment of a monetary penalty. This rule is the third phase of NCP rulemaking. The first, published August 30, 1985 established generic aspects of NCPs. The second, published December 31, 1985, addressed NCPs applicable to 1987 through 1990 model years.

Final Rule Stage

2934. ● STATE IMPLEMENTATION PLANS: ATTAINMENT STATUS DESIGNATIONS

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7501-7508 /CAA 101-108

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 81

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory, August 31, 1988.

Abstract: On June 6, 1988 (53 FR 20722), the EPA, as directed by the Mitchell-Conte Amendment of December 22, 1987 (contained in the continuing resolution of 1987, Pub. L. 100-202), proposed to designate as nonattainment under the CAA those areas throughout the nation that have not attained the NAAQS for either ozone or carbon monoxide (CO). EPA proposed to designate as nonattainment those areas currently codified as attainment or unclassified, and to renew the designations for areas currently codified as nonattainment. The notice also proposed for public comment 3 interpretations of the regulatory consequences of these nonattainment designations under the Mitchell-Conte amendment.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7409 /CAA 109

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 50.4; 40 CFR 50.5

Legal Deadline: Other, Statutory, December 31, 1980.

Reviews due by December 31, 1980 and at 5-year intervals thereafter.

Abstract: EPA has reviewed the scientific criteria used as a basis for establishing ambient air quality standards for sulfur oxides. The Agency will revise the standards if and as appropriate to protect public health and welfare. On April 26, 1988, EPA announced its proposed decision not to revise the current standards. The notice also solicited comment on the alternative of adding a new 1-hour standard and certain other revisions.

2936. NEW SOURCE REVIEW REQUIREMENTS — CMA EXHIBIT A*Significance: Regulatory ProgramLegal Authority: 42 USC 7410/CAA 110CFR Citation: 40 CFR 51; 40 CFR 52Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action would revise EPA's new source requirements for new major stationary sources in PSD and Nonattainment areas. EPA is taking this action to implement a settlement agreement with Chemical Manufacturer's Association and other parties who challenged the regulation amendments promulgated on August 7, 1980. Abstract: The various EPA regulations that govern new construction under the CAA generally apply to "major" new stationary sources of air pollution and

"major" modifications of existing sources. They require fugitive emissions to be included in threshold applicability determinations of whether a new source is "major," but only for 30 categories of sources. The purpose of this action is to determine if surface coals mines should be added to the existing list of 30 categories. A companion action will respond to a petition on the more general issue of including fugitive emissions in NSR applicability determinations.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7401 et seq/CAA

CFR Citation: 40 CFR Not applicable

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The EPA is developing a program to address the likelihood that many areas in the country will not attain the national ambient air quality standards (NAAQS) for ozone and carbon monoxide (CO) by December 31, 1987, the latest date for attainment expressly identified in the Clean Air Act. This notice describes EPA's views about how EPA should interpret the Act so as to bring those areas into attainment, the reasons for that interpretation, and the concrete steps EPA intends to take to implement that interpretation soon and in the long term. The final policy will be an advance notice of how EPA intends, in subsequent rulemakings, to judge the adequacy of State efforts to plan for attainment of the ozone and CO standards.

Abstract: EPA issued a notice of intent to list total chromium or hexavalent chromium under Section 112 (50 FR 24317). EPA is further assessing the public health risks of chromium compounds and investigating emissions of chromium and techniques that are available to control the emissions from identified source categories. Because emissions from cooling towers using chromium chemicals in the recirculating water are predominantly hexavalent, EPA has decided that emissions standards are warranted, and standards have been proposed under Section 6 of TSCA.

Abstract: Since 1977, EPA has allowed States with rural fugitive dust areas (RFDAs) to discount fugitive dust in developing and enforcing a State Implementation Plan(SIP) for attainment and maintenance of the NAAQS for particulate matter (PM). On July 1, 1987, EPA promulgated revisions to its particulate matter National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS), 52 FR 24634. In this notice, EPA also solicited comments on alternatives for SIP requirements for RFDAs and on the adequacy of the definitions which are used in identifying RFDAs, and the importance of protecting annual versus 24-hour NAAQS (52 FR 24716). The EPA will issue its decision after considering public comments on the alternatives. The EPA will continue its existing fugitive policy and apply it to implementation of the revised particulate standard until a decision is made.

2956. SMALL-VOLUME MANUFACTURERS CERTIFICATION PROCEDURE (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7525 / CAA 206

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 86

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action will result in amended rules to provide for certification of emissions compliance by small-volume manufacturers, including commercial importers importing vehicles into the United States. By a separate action, EPA has revised its rules for nonconforming vehicle importation. This action is appropriate to improve the certification regulations and assure compliance with the exhaust emission standards. Current rules for small-volume manufacturers were not specifically intended to apply to conversion of previously manufactured but uncertified configurations. However, increasingly large numbers of manufacturers who import vehicles for resale have applied for EPA certification as an alternative to individual vehicle importation. This will primarily impact businesses involved in importing motor vehicles. The likely impact of these changes will be increased costs to these businesses.

Abstract: The U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit has directed EPA to amend the aftermarket parts certification regulations. There were four specific areas which the Court directed EPA to revisit. EPA was directed to develop better procedures for determining adequate grounds for manufacturer denial of a warranty claim; reconsider inclusion of specialty parts into the certification system; improve the procedure for resolution of warranty cost claims by vehicle manufacturers against certified parts manufacturers; and labeling for certified parts.

Currently, only releases of those EHSs that are also CERCLA hazardous substances are required to be reported to the National Response Center under CERCLA Section 103. Upon designation, potential confusion concerning the different SARA Title III and CERCLA requirements might be reduced by ensuring consistent procedures for reporting releases of all EHSs.

Abstract: This rule interprets and codifies (1) the requirements of Section 121(d)(3) of the Comprehensive Emergency Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA) as amended by the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986 (SARA) and (2) the revised off-site policy directive (November 13, 1987). Section 121(d)(3) and the directive describe procedures that must be observed when a response action funded under CERCLA or using a CERCLA authority involves off-site transfer of CERCLA wastes. Section 121(d)(3) of SARA specifies that wastes from removal or remedial actions under CERCLA: 1) only be transferred to facilities that are in compliance with Sections 3004 and 3005 of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA), other applicable Federal laws and State laws, and 2) only be transferred to units at hazardous waste land disposal facilities that are not leaking and where releases from other (non-receiving) units at the facility are under a corrective action program.

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory, April 17, 1988.

Abstract: This action revises the Hazard Ranking System (HRS) which is Appendix A of the National Contingency Plan. The HRS is a system for determining the relative severity of risks among releases of hazardous substances. The HRS is the primary mechanism for establishing the National Priorities List under CERCLA. CERCLA requires that the HRS be amended to assure, to the extent feasible, that it accurately assesses relative risk to public health and the environment. CERCLA specifically requires that the HRS take into consideration natural resource damages that may affect the human food chain as well as potential air contamination. The HRS must also appropriately assess human health risks associated with contamination of surface waters for drinking or recreation.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 117; 40 CFR 302

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory, December 31, 1986. Final, Statutory, April 30, 1988.

Abstract: In March 1987 the Agency proposed adjusting, where appropriate, the statutory reportable quantities (RQs) for 273 of the hazardous substances identified in Section 101(12) of CERCLA, as amended. Most (269) of these substances were evaluated for potential carcinogenicity. SARA 202 amends CERCLA 306 to require the Department of Transportation (DOT) to list and regulate as hazardous materials all CERCLA hazardous substances. These regulations require that when these materials are shipped in quantities equal to or greater than their RQs, they be identified as hazardous substances on shipping papers and package markings. DOT promulgated this rule with an effective date of July 1, 1987. The DOT has received several inquiries concerning six frequently transported CERCLA hazardous substances that had their RQs proposed to be adjusted upward in the March 16, 1987 rule. EPA has decided to expedite the final RQ adjustments for these six substances to relieve the regulatory burden on industry. In addition, in this final rule EPA will promulgate the RQs for lead and five lead compounds that were proposed in March 2, 1988 (53 FR 6762).

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory, December 31, 1986. Final, Statutory, April 30, 1988.

Abstract: EPA is adjusting the statutory one-pound reportable quantity (RQ) for radionuclides pursuant to Section 102 of CERCLA. Radionuclides consist of approximately 1,500 radioactive isotopes whose release represents differing degrees of potential harm to human health and the environment. The Agency has proposed individual adjusted RQs for 757 radionuclides, and an RQ of one curie for all of the remaining radionuclides.

Abstract: In the May 25, 1983 NPRM (48 FR 23552) that proposed to adjust certain reportable quantities (RQs) for releases of hazardous substances, EPA explained the Agency's interpretation of each of the types of releases exempted by the definition of "federally permitted release" in Section 101(10) of CERCLA. Because of the amount of time that has passed and additional analysis undertaken since that NPRM, this action repropose regulations to clarify the statutory language in Section 101(10) of CERCLA.

Periodic revisions will allow EPA to include sites on the NPL with known or threatened hazardous substances releases and to delete sites that have been cleaned up. EPA uses the Hazard Ranking System (HRS) to evaluate the sites. The Agency will promulgate Update 6. See the related actions in the proposed and final rule sections of the Agenda.

Abstract: This regulation will establish and govern the procedures for arbitration of small CERCLA 107(a) cost recovery claims pursuant to the authority granted EPA by SARA 122(h)(2). The regulation will provide a voluntary procedure by which EPA and PRPs at a site may agree to submit a cost recovery claim for resolution by arbitration. Arbitration may be used only when the total response costs for the facility concerned do not exceed $500,000, excluding interest. Arbitration is an alternative dispute resolution technique that should provide a quicker and less costly method of case resolution than traditional litigation and negotiations.

Legal Authority: 29 USC 628

CFR Citation: 29 CFR Not yet determined

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The ADEA prohibits discrimination on the basis of age with respect to an employee's compensation, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment. In light of recent amendments to the ADEA and several cases dealing with early retirement, questions have arisen regarding the legality of early retirement plans in general and of specific plans. Since the use of early retirement has expanded greatly in recent years, the Commission deems it appropriate to consider the issuance of regulatory guidance in the area. The ANPRM seeks comment on issues such as voluntariness, plan structuring and eligibility to participate.

Since that time the ADEA has been amended in a manner that necessitates considering revisions to the regulations, for example, the addition of sec. 4(g) to the Act and the lifting of the age 70 cap. Accordingly, the Commission is requesting public comment to determine whether revisions are necessary and, if so, the nature and scope of any such revision.

Abstract: National Flood Insurance Program premium rating system changes under consideration include a community rating system and a system to use revised FIRMs producing higher rates for existing policyholders, subject to a rate cap. The community rating system would be designed to recognize circumstances within local communities that mitigate or exacerbate the flooding risk, such as the inaction of a community in addressing flood problems or the performance of a community that goes beyond minimum NFIP floodplain management requirements. The use of revised FIRMs for existing policyholders would replace the current practice of allowing premium rates for such policyholders to be based on the map in existence at the time of construction so long as the construction met the requirements at that time.

3036. COMPREHENSIVE COOPERATIVE AGREEMENT (CCA) POLICIES, PROCEDURES, AND ASSOCIATED PROGRAMS

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 305; 44 CFR 302; 44 CFR 360; 44 CFR 301; 5 CFR 900

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The comprehensive aspect of the CCA process itself was not created by legislation or even by regulation; Presidential emphasis on grants consolidation and FEMA policy on integrating programs created the CCA. The cooperative agreement aspect of the CCA process is based on PL 95-224, the Federal Grant and Cooperative Agreement Act of 1977. Cooperative agreements are used when stimulating a public purpose (the multiple programs delivered in each CCA are aimed at stimulating public purposes, primarily civil defense). The Federal Civil Defense Act of 1950, as amended, authorizes the major portion of CCA programs and assistance dollars, and is therefore the major legislative authority underpinning the CCA process. Various Civil Preparedness Guides, primarily CPG 1-38 and CPG 1-3 address the CCA process and associated programs. However, a regulation would provide complete notice to States and interested parties and complete the policy and procedural requirements identified by the Office of General Counsel. Specific quantitative estimates cannot be cited.

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 59; 44 CFR 60; 44 CFR 61; 44 CFR 62

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Section 544 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987 provides a new benefit to National Flood Insurance Program Policyholders: Payment for demolition or relocation of an insured structure if it is located "along the shore of a lake or other body of water and is certified by appropriate State and local land use authority to be subject to imminent collapse or subsidence as a result of erosion or undermining caused by waves or currents of water exceeding anticipated cyclical levels." FEMA plans to commission an investigation through the National Academy of Sciences (expected to take approximately 15 months) to provide a basis for regulations defining "imminent collapse" certification criteria and erosion zone management measures. In the meantime, FEMA is considering issuing interim administrative regulations dealing with other aspects of providing new benefits.

next few years. This restructuring will include: the separation of policies and procedures, the separation of contracting from management and use provisions, the reorganization of FIRMR contracting provisions for consistency with the Federal Acquisition Regulations, and the reorganization of the FIRMR's management and use provisions into a life cycle format. As the final draft of each subchapter is completed, GSA will seek public comment on the subchapter through a notice of proposed rulemaking. Subchapter E, which deals with acquisition, will be completed first and, if possible, issued as a final rule before publication of the entire FIRMR. An advanced notice of proposed rulemaking describing the project was published in the Federal Register in January 1988. The next planned action is a notice of proposed rulemaking for revised FIRMR Part 39. This action will consolidate all FIRMR contracting policies and procedures for acquiring ADP and telecommunications resources into a single part, consistent with the FAR.

Abstract: This regulation implements certain selected portions of the Paperwork Reduction Reauthorization Act of 1986. Among the other changes, it clarifies the applicability of the FIRM to the management acquisition, and use of various information resources by Federal agencies. The amendment prescribes FIRM policies and procedures for use in determining whether any particular procurement must be conducted under GSA's exclusive procurement authority. It also streamlines the Delegations Program by establishing uniform procedures, uniform blanket delegations of procurement authority, Agency Procurement Requests for all ADP and telecommunications resources.

Abstract: This action proposes a common rule updating and replacing agencies' implementation of OMB Circular A-110 with a single, government-wide common rule establishing consistency and uniformity among Federal agencies in the administration of grants and cooperative agreements to institutions of higher education, hospitals, other nonprofit organizations, and commercial or for-profit entities. This result is achieved by amending the common rule issued by the agencies on March 11, 1988, to similarly update and replace implementation of OMB Circular A-102. The provisions of the common rule are largely drawn from the existing departmental rules issued by the several agencies which in the past developed a single, comprehensive rule implementing the circulars. This proposed common rule contains fiscal and administrative requirements applicable to grantees.

NARA's loan requirements are necessary to ensure that the exhibition of records from its holdings does not conflict with its responsibility for the preservation of those records. This regulation will make NARA's minimum loan requirements for security, environmental conditions, lighting, handling, and advance notice more conveniently available to potential borrowers. be retained in the agency for use in the conduct of the agency's regular current business. The rule specifies what information must be contained in the written certification and provides criteria to assist agencies in making an informed determination whether their permanently valuable records over 30 years old are needed for current business in agency space. The rule also clarifies procedures for removing statutory and other restrictions from records transferred to the National Archives.

AGENCY: Office of Management and Budget.

ACTION: Publication of semiannual agenda.

SUMMARY: The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) is publishing its semiannual agenda of upcoming activities on OMB Circulars and Office of Federal Procurement Policy Letters (OFPP Policy Letters). This action is in accordance with OMB's internal procedures for implementing Executive Order No. 12291. OMB directives are issued under authority derived from several sources including: Subtitles I, II, and V of Title 31, United States Code, Executive Order No. 11541, and other specific authority as cited. The agenda includes actions on issuances which are not regulations, but which are of public interest.

OMB Circulars and OFPP Policy Letters are directives that communicate significant government-wide policy of a continuing nature. For purposes of this agenda, we have included Circulars and Policy Letters which are designed to implement, interpret, or prescribe law or policy, or describe the procedure or practice requirements of an agency. Excluded are directives that outline procedures to be followed in connection with the President's budget and legislative programs, and directives that affect only the internal functions, management, or personnel of Federal agencies.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: See agency person listed for each entry in the agenda, c/o Office of Management and Budget, Washington, DC 20503. On the overall agenda, contact Darrell A. Johnson (202/395-7250) at the above address.

Additionally, the proposed changes would avoid a duplicative enforcement procedure currently subject to review by OPM and MSPB, which is, more properly, within the sole jurisdiction of the EEOC.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

PANAMA CANAL COMMISSION (PANAMA)*PANAMA CANAL COMMISSION*35 CFR Ch. I*Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations*AGENCY: Panama Canal Commission.ACTION: Publication of semiannual agenda of regulations.

SUMMARY: The purpose of this agenda is to report the proposed rulemaking activities of the Panama Canal Commission. This information will allow the public to participate in the rulemaking process.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

For information about a particular regulatory project, contact the person listed in the subheading "Agency Contact" for that project. For general information, contact Michael Rhode, Jr., Assistant to the Chairman and Secretary, Panama Canal Commission, 2000 L Street, NW., Suite 550, Washington, DC 20036-4996, (202) 634-6441 TDD; or John L. Haines, Jr., Esquire, General Counsel, Panama Canal Commission, APO Miami 34011-5000.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Executive Order 12291, Federal Regulation, and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq. require that executive agencies publish in the Federal Register a semiannual notice of regulations which are under development or review or for which action has been completed. The Panama Canal Commission agenda contains certain regulations which are limited in public impact, but they are included to increase public awareness of Commission activities and to allow for increased public participation in the agency's regulatory review and development process. This agenda was prepared under the guidelines established by OMB Bulletin No. 88-15.

Dated: August 26, 1988.

Michael Rhode, Jr.,

Assistant to the Chairman and Secretary,
Panama Canal Commission.PANAMA CANAL COMMISSION (PANAMA)*Prerule Stage*3266. TOLLS FOR USE OF CANAL*Significance: Agency PriorityLegal Authority: PL 96-70, Sec 1601CFR Citation: 35 CFR 133, (Revision)Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Due to operating cost increases, including inflation, since the last toll rate increase (March 1983), the Panama Canal Commission is currently considering increasing the rates of tolls charged vessels transiting the Canal. An approximate 9% increase may be proposed effective in FY 1990 to achieve the Commission's regulatory requirement to recover from users all costs of operating and maintaining the waterway.

Abstract: The proposed changes correct authority to issue Panama Canal Tonnage Certificate (no financial impact); eliminate the "125 percent of engine room as measured" limitation for ballast rate (negligible negative impact on canal revenues); increase size limitation on manholes to water ballast spaces from 30 to 34 inch diameter, to align our rules with I.M.O's (small negative impact on canal revenues); allow deductible items located in the engine room to be deducted as part of engine room rather than separately, to streamline the method by which propulsion power deduction is determined (negligible impact on canal revenues).

These changes will not impact on most vessels already measured for Panama Canal tonnages. Vessels that qualify for increased deductions may choose to be remeasured.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

PEACE CORPS (PEACE)*PEACE CORPS*22 CFR Ch. III*Executive Order 12291, Federal Regulations, Semiannual Agenda of Regulations*AGENCY: Peace Corps.ACTION: Publication of semiannual agenda.

SUMMARY: This agenda announces the regulations the Peace Corps will have under development during the 12-month period from October 1, 1988 through September 30, 1989. The purpose for publishing this agenda is to give notice of any regulatory activity by the Agency in order to allow the public an opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

The public is encouraged to contact the Agency official listed for the particular agenda item. For other information concerning Peace Corps' regulations or this semiannual agenda, contact Robert Martin, Associate General Counsel, Peace Corps, 806 Connecticut Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20526, (202) 254-3114.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with Executive Order 12291, Federal Regulations, and the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 605) executive agencies are required to publish in the Federal Register semiannual regulatory agendas in April and October of each year.

The regulations being considered by Peace Corps are not "major" rules within the meaning of E.O. 12291 and no Regulatory Impact Analysis is required. Peace Corps has determined that the regulations under consideration will not impose compliance costs or reporting burdens on the public; and that the regulations will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Accordingly, no Regulatory Analysis is required under 5 U.S.C. 602.

SUMMARY: This document sets forth the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation's regulatory agenda issued under Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act. The agenda lists regulations that are currently under development or that PBGC expects to have under development during the next twelve months. The effect of this agenda is to advise the public of PBGC's current and future regulatory activities.

For information about a specific regulation project listed on the agenda, contact the person designated in the agenda for that regulation.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under the President's Order on Federal Regulation, Executive Order 12291, 46 FR 13193, each agency is required to publish in April and October an agenda of regulations currently or soon to be under development. The Executive Order requires that the agenda also include those currently effective regulations that are being reviewed by the agency pursuant to the Executive Order. The Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 98-354, 5 U.S.C. 601, has a similar agenda requirement. Under that law, the agenda must list any regulation that is likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

The Office of Management and Budget has issued guidelines (OMB Bulletin No. 88-15) prescribing the form and content of the regulatory agenda. Under those guidelines, the agenda must list all regulatory activities being conducted or reviewed in the next twelve months and provide certain specified information on each regulation. All of the items on this agenda are current or projected rulemakings.

Abstract: Under section 4207(a) of ERISA, the PBGC has issued a regulation (29 CFR Part 2647) providing for the reduction or waiver of an employer's liability for complete withdrawal upon the employer's resumption of participation under the plan from which it withdrew. The statute also requires the PBGC to prescribe procedures and standards under which multiemployer plans may adopt their own rules abating complete withdrawal liability upon an employer's return to the plan (section 4207(b)).

The purpose of letting plans adopt their own abatement rules is obvious: a specific rule adopted by a plan may well work better under the facts and circumstances of that particular plan than the broad rules adopted by the PBGC. This regulation will permit a plan to fashion the rules it needs to encourage the return of withdrawn employers, while at the same time protecting the plan from the loss of withdrawal liability payments without a compensating resumption of contributions to the plan by a formerly withdrawn employer. Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3); 29 USC 1341(c)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2642

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In a notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 31, 1986 (51 FR 47342), the PBGC issued its interpretation that ERISA section 4211 does not permit the assessment of withdrawal liability against an employer by a multiemployer plan that had no unfunded vested benefits as of the end of the plan year preceding the employer's withdrawal. This interpretation raises certain questions as to the proper manner of applying the allocation methods prescribed in section 4211(b) and (c)(2) by a plan that at one time was fully funded, but is no longer. The PBGC plans to issue a proposed amendment to its regulation on allocating unfunded vested benefits dealing with this issue.

Abstract: When the PBGC assumes trusteeship of a terminated pension plan pursuant to sections 4041 and 4042 of ERISA, it pays benefits to participants pursuant to plan provisions and section 4022 of ERISA. This regulation will contain rules and policies relating to the payment of such benefits. The regulation will enable the PBGC to process and administer PBGC-trusted plans more efficiently with resultant cost savings. It also will reduce costs to the public and the PBGC by providing payment rules, thereby reducing the number of requests for administrative review.

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b); 29 USC 1362 to 1364; 29 USC 1367 to 1368

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2622

Abstract: The PBGC's employer liability regulation incorporates by reference the interest rate charged under section 6601 of the Internal Revenue Code as the interest rate charged, or credited, on late payments, or overpayments, of employer liability. The Tax Reform Act of 1986 significantly changed the way in which the section 6601 rate is established and creates two interest rates: one for underpayments and another, lower rate for overpayments. Because of these changes, the PBGC plans to conduct a new rulemaking proceeding to determine whether it should continue to use the section 6601 interest rates under the employer liability regulation or whether it should adopt a new rate(s) for this purpose.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3); 29 USC 1306; 29 USC 1307; PL 100-203, Sec 9331

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2610

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Pension Protection Act substantially altered the rules pertaining to single-employer plan premiums that are paid to the PBGC. Under the Act, there is a flat per capita charge (increased from that under prior law) plus a new variable rate charge tied to the value of a plan's unfunded vested benefits. The new premium rules are effective for plan years beginning after December 31, 1987.

On June 30, 1988, the PBGC issued an interim regulation implementing these rules. Because of the need to issue the regulation quickly to provide guidance for 1988 premium payments, the PBGC did not solicit public comment before issuing the regulation. For the same reason, the interim regulation did not address certain relevant, but secondary, issues pertaining to the new rules. Therefore, on October 5, 1988, the PBGC issued a notice of proposed rulemaking in order to permit public comment on the interim regulation. The NPRM also addressed problems or

3286. ● PAYMENTS BY PBGC OF UNFUNDED NONGUARANTEED BENEFITS

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: PL 100-203, Sec 9312(b)(3)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR Not yet determined

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract:

The Pension Protection Act repealed ERISA section 4049 and 4062(c). Those provisions established new employer liability to plan participants and beneficiaries in the event of a distress termination or involuntary termination by the PBGC of a plan without sufficient assets to pay all benefit commitments; the section 4049 trust was the vehicle for collecting and distributing these liability amounts. This system proved flawed in several respects, however, and Congress therefore created a new scheme by which to channel employer liability recoveries to plan participants and beneficiaries, amended ERISA section 4022(c).

Under section 4022(c), participants no longer have a direct claim for employer liability. Instead, the PBGC's claim covers both its shortfall (unfunded guaranteed benefits) and participants' losses (unfunded benefit liabilities in excess of guaranteed benefits). In turn, the PBGC is to pay a portion of its employer liability recovery to participants and beneficiaries. The amount to be paid is based on the PBGC "recovery ratio" (as defined in amended sec. 4022(c)(3)).(cont)

Additional Information:

This new statutory rule contains several ambiguities and also leaves to the PBGC the development of specific rules and procedures necessary to make this system work. The regulation will, for example, contain rules on how the PBGC will value its employer liability recoveries for purposes of computing the recovery ratio, whether the allocation of amounts payable under this provision will be done as part of the regular section 4044 asset allocation, and whether the PBGC will pay these benefits by increasing the amount of annuity payments it is making to participants or making lump sum payments.

3287. RETIREMENT EQUITY ACT AMENDMENTS - VALUATION OF PLAN BENEFITS

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3); 29 USC 1341

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2619

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Retirement Equity Act of 1984 ("REA") requires plans to provide certain benefits, prohibits the elimination of benefit options and certain early retirement benefits and retirement-type subsidies, and mandates the range of interest rates that may be used in calculating the amount of a non-consensual lump sum benefit. The Tax Reform Act of 1986 ("TRA '86") slightly modified the interest rate restrictions and extended them to the calculation of all lump sum benefits.

These rules necessitate several amendments to the PBGC's valuation of benefits regulation (29 CFR Part 2619). The major changes will address the rules on determining the form of benefit to be valued on plan termination and the interest rate rules for lump sum payments in standard terminations.

Because the valuation of benefits is an essential part of the plan termination process, the PBGC plans to issue these amendments both as a notice of proposed rulemaking and as an interim final rule at or about the same time it issues the final distress termination and standard termination regulations. Abstract: Section 4041A of ERISA provides rules with respect to the termination of multiemployer plans and the payment of benefits under those plans. Under section 4041A(f)(2), PBGC is authorized to prescribe rules for the administration of those plans that are appropriate to protect the interests of plan participants and beneficiaries or to prevent unreasonable loss to the insurance system. Under section 4281(b), the plan sponsor of a plan that has terminated by mass withdrawal is required annually to determine the value of the plan's nonforfeitable benefits and assets. If the value of the benefits exceeds the value of the assets, the sponsor must amend the plan to eliminate benefits not eligible for PBGC's guarantee under section 4022A(b), to the extent necessary to insure that the plan assets are sufficient to pay all nonforfeitable benefits. This determination of sufficiency is to be made in accordance with rules prescribed by PBGC. This regulation would establish the rules for administering plans that have terminated by mass withdrawal, including the rules for determining sufficiency in the circumstances described above. By thus helping to preserve plan assets, these rules will, in the first instance, benefit plan participants and beneficiaries and secondarily, the multiemployer insurance system and premium payers. PBGC lacks adequate data to be able to quantify these benefits.

Abstract: Section 4208 of ERISA provides for the reduction or elimination under certain circumstances of an employer's partial withdrawal liability arising from a 70 percent reduction in contribution base units. That section also authorizes the PBGC to prescribe rules for the reduction or elimination of partial withdrawal liability under other conditions. The regulation will provide for the abatement of partial withdrawal liability arising from the cessation of the obligation to contribute under a collective bargaining agreement or with respect to a facility. Section 4208 also requires the PBGC to issue a regulation under which a multiemployer plan may adopt rules for the reduction or elimination of partial withdrawal liability. This regulation will allow plans to ease the statutory partial withdrawal liability rules where, for example, the rules are harmful to the plan because they discourage an employer from increasing its participation under the plan, or where the statutory rules create administrative burdens which outweigh the protections afforded by the rules.

Abstract: Under section 4206(b) of ERISA, if an employer partially or completely withdraws from a multiemployer plan subsequent to an earlier partial withdrawal from that plan, the employer's liability for the second withdrawal must be reduced by the amount of its liability for the earlier partial withdrawal. The purpose of this credit is to avoid plans double-charging employers for the same unfunded liabilities. Section 4206(b) also requires the PBGC to prescribe regulations adjusting this credit to ensure that the employer's liability for its second withdrawal properly reflects the employer's share of liability with respect to the plan.

The need for this adjustment to the credit can be seen from the following example. In a plan that uses the rolling-5 allocation method, an employer's withdrawal liability is based on its last five years' participation in the plan. If an employer's second withdrawal occurs more than five years after its partial withdrawal, the liability for the second withdrawal is based solely on plan participation subsequent to the partial (cont)

liabilities and no reason to give the employer a credit against its liability for the second withdrawal. However, without this regulation, the employer would get that credit under the statute. There are many other possible situations in which the employer's credit should similarly be reduced in order to ensure equitable treatment of the withdrawing employer vis-a-vis the other employers still contributing to the plan.

This regulation will result in some shifting of liabilities among employers contributing to a multiemployer plan. An employer that has another withdrawal following a partial withdrawal may incur greater liability for the second withdrawal because of the reduction in the credit for the prior partial withdrawal. However, this increase in liability would reduce the unfunded vested benefits allocable to other employers that withdraw thereafter. In the aggregate, the regulation will impose no new costs.

3291. DETERMINATION OF WITHDRAWAL LIABILITY FOLLOWING A MERGER

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3); 29 USC 1391(f)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2642 (Amendment)

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The merger of two multiemployer plans creates a problem as to how the successor plan's unfunded vested benefits are to be allocated in order to determine withdrawal liability for post-merger withdrawals. Frequently, the two plans will have been using different allocation methods prior to the merger. Even if they were using the same method, if they had different plan years, that would create different allocations.

For this reason, section 4211(f) of ERISA requires the PBGC to issue regulations prescribing rules for the post-merger allocation of unfunded vested benefits. The PBGC proposes to establish rules that parallel the statutory allocation methods: i.e., there would be a presumptive allocation method that would apply to plans unless they chose otherwise, and plans would be permitted to adopt certain modifications to this presumptive method without the PBGC's approval and other more significant modifications with the PBGC's approval. Additional Information: ABSTRACT

CONT: This regulation will remove a significant impediment to multiemployer plan mergers by eliminating employers' concern and confusion over how their withdrawal liability would be calculated after a merger. Plan mergers are generally to be encouraged since a larger plan is typically a stronger plan because of its broader contribution base, and because portability of benefits is increased. This regulation will impose no new costs.

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2616

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Single-Employer Pension Plan Amendments Act of 1988 substantially revised ERISA section 4041 dealing with the voluntary termination of single-employer pension plans. Under amended section 4041, a plan may voluntarily terminate only if the termination satisfies the statutory conditions for a standard or distress termination. These rules were further modified by the 1987 Pension Protection Act, which increased the benefits that must be provided, or for which the employer maintaining the plan is liable, upon plan termination. Thus, under current law, unless a plan has sufficient assets to satisfy all plan benefit liabilities, it may voluntarily terminate only in a "distress" termination; i.e., a termination in which the plan sponsor and all members of its controlled group are able to demonstrate either such financial hardship or unduly burdensome pension costs that, as a practical matter, they are unable to continue to maintain the plan. CONT:

The statutory rules and procedures for distress terminations are substantially different from the prior rules and procedures for terminating insufficient plans. Therefore, it is necessary to revise the PBGC's plan termination regulations to reflect these new rules and procedures. This regulation covering distress terminations and a companion rule covering standard terminations (to be codified in Part 2617) will replace the PBGC's principal termination regulations on notices of intent to terminate and termination of sufficient plans (existing Parts 2616 and 2617).

Although the notice of proposed rulemaking for this regulation was issued prior to enactment of the Pension Protection Act, the final rule will reflect the relevant statutory changes from that Act.

3293. STANDARD TERMINATIONS OF SINGLE-EMPLOYER PLANS

Significance: Regulatory Program

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2617

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Under ERISA Section 4041, as amended by the Single-Employer Pension Plan Amendments Act of 1986 and the Pension Protection Act, absent a showing of financial hardship or unduly burdensome pension costs that would satisfy the requirements for a distress termination, a single-employer plan may be voluntarily terminated only if it is sufficient for all benefit liabilities (i.e., all benefits provided under the plan on the termination date, whether or not vested). This is referred to as a "standard" termination. SEPPAA also modified many of the termination rules and procedures that applied under prior law, both to increase the protections afforded plan participants and beneficiaries and to simplify and expedite the PBGC's processing of these sufficient plan terminations. It is, therefore, necessary to promulgate this new regulation implementing the new rules and procedures for standard terminations. This regulation and its companion regulation covering distress terminations (to be codified in Part 2616) will replace the PBGC's principal termination regulations on notices of intent to terminate and termination of sufficient plans (existing Parts 2616 and 2617) (CONT)

Abstract: The Single-Employer Pension Plan Amendments Act of 1986 ("SEPPAA") and the Pension Protection Act ("PPA") made several changes in Title IV rules and procedures that affect and, in some cases, override portions of several PBGC regulations. For this reason, these regulations - administrative review of agency decisions, benefit reductions in terminated plans, reportable events and employer liability - must be amended to conform them to the current law. For example, because SEPPAA altered the determinations that the PBGC may make with respect to voluntary plan terminations, the list in 29 CFR 2606.1(b) of determinations subject to agency review must be amended.

Similarly, SEPPAA contained, for distress terminations, specific benefit cutback rules. These rules differ somewhat from those set forth in 29 CFR Part 2623 and, therefore, conforming amendments to Part 2623 are required. SEPPAA and the PPA significantly changed the rules on employer liability to the PBGC in distress and involuntary terminations. Now, an employer is liable to the PBGC for the total plan underfunding, (CONT)

Improving Government Regulations;
Semiannual Agenda

AGENCY: Small Business Administration.

ACTION: Publication of the semiannual agenda of regulations under review or development by the Small Business Administration.

SUMMARY: This is SBA's 19th semiannual agenda of regulations. Although not a regulatory agency, SBA has attempted to draft agendas that meet both the criteria and the spirit of the regulatory review process. This agenda is published pursuant to Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Pub. L. 96-354, effective January 1, 198.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

For further information on agenda items, the public is encouraged to contact the individual Agency official listed for the particular item.

For information concerning SBA overall Regulatory Review and Development Program or for general semiannual agenda questions, contact Martin D. Teckler, Deputy General Counsel, Small Business Administration, 1441 L Street, NW., Washington, DC 20416, 202/653-6644.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The SBA agenda will contain many regulations which are limited in public impact. They are included to increase public knowledge of all SBA regulatory activities and allow for increased public participation in the review and development process.

Public comments on SBA's previous agendas have been general, and all have been positive. None were directed at specific contents, nor were any changes suggested or recommended.

The agenda format has four parts. Part I, Pre-Rulemakings, includes investigations and reviews to be conducted prior to deciding whether or not to propose a rule or rule change. Part II, Proposed Rules, includes rules which will be proposed during the six-month period covered by the agenda. Part III, Final Rules, includes proposed rules which will be finalized during the period covered by the agenda. Part IV, Completed Actions, includes regulations completed or withdrawn, and reviews completed since the preceding agenda.

Publication of this agenda does not impose any binding obligation on SBA with regard to any specific item in the agenda. Additional regulatory action not listed in the agenda is not precluded.

Dated: August 26, 1988.

James Abdnor, Administrator.

Abstract: Final regulations implementing 38 USC 3305 were made effective Oct. 22, 1982. Those regulations govern the VA's QA (quality assurance) program activities and records and documents which are made confidential and privileged. Sec. 3305 prohibits the VA from designating any QA program activity, for the purpose of confidentiality, unless such activity has been specified in regulation. Pub. outcome measures of mortality and morbidity; a report to Congress indicating deficiencies in the quality of care is required. 38 USC 3305 was amended to clarify that aggregate statistical data is not to be made confidential provided individuals are not identified. The existing regulations do not include a description of the VA Medical District Initiated Peer Review Organization (MEDIPRO) program which is an integral element of the quality assurance program. No alternatives are being considered. There are no potential costs to the action. The benefits would be in the form of programmatic improvements.

Also, the Administrator of Veterans Affairs is provided authority to conditionally award construction grants. If a state does not complete requirements within 90 days after conditional approval, funds will be deobligated. These proposed regulations will implement that change. Construction standards in 38 CFR 17.177 are being totally reformatted, revised and updated. The veteran population in 38 CFR 17.171 Appendix A is being updated to reflect the current information. Additionally, provisions are being established to handle large grant requests where one project may exceed the annual appropriation. Requests for projects exceeding one-half the annual appropriation will receive lower priority on the list and may be partially funded if funds are available and the project ranks high enough on the priority list for Federal funds.

Legal Authority: 38 USC 111; 38 USC 1506

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 21.100; 38 CFR 21.376

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: An initial evaluation is provided each veteran requesting assistance under the vocational rehabilitation program. The purpose of the initial evaluation is to determine eligibility and entitlement to vocational rehabilitation and plan a program of vocational rehabilitation for eligible veterans. The initial evaluation is provided by VA counseling psychologists in the United States. Since interpersonal discussion is the essence of counseling, providing an initial evaluation to a veteran residing overseas by a VA counselor located in this country poses logistical and other problems. We are proposing that current regulations be amended to allow for greater flexibility in providing initial evaluations to veterans not residing in a state, including those veterans residing overseas. The alternatives to the present system include, but are not limited to contracting with qualified counseling staff located in the area in which the veteran resides, to conduct a part of the evaluation. All decisions as to eligibility for services would continue to be made by VA staff.

Abstract: A number of regulatory changes will be proposed for the VA manufactured home loan program. VA would conform to HUD's practices on certifications, invoicing and volume rebates. Lenders would be permitted to file claims upon receipt of VA's resale price and thereafter retain the profit or loss which results from subsequent sale of the home. Broader insurance coverage would be required to cover missing items at repossession. Actual freight costs would be allowed in the invoice, and the amounts and items which could be included in the loan would be revised.

Abstract: Under current provisions, use of the Vocational Rehabilitation Panel is required in certain instances. The role of the Panel is to assist in helping seriously disabled veterans successfully pursue a rehabilitation program. The requirement for consultation was a sound policy when the vocational rehabilitation program was substantially revised and broadened in 1980. As staff have gained experience with the new policies which resulted from the revision of the rehabilitation program in 1980, the need for consultation in every case has decreased. Current field experience indicates that placing use of the Panel on a discretionary basis is in the interest of the veteran and the government.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Regulations will be amended to implement the new requirements for payment of claims. Under the new formulas, VA will exclude from the guaranty claim payment the interest which accrues during periods of forbearance granted at VA's request, and when the veteran files for bankruptcy. As a result, we expect that a number of cases which would result in the lender being required to dispose of the property will instead result in VA acquiring the property and paying a smaller claim. The adjustment in a VA-requested forbearance or bankruptcy situation will only be made if doing so will result in VA offering to acquire the property when the property would otherwise not be acquired by the VA. In cases where VA is at fault for the delay in foreclosure, for example, a failure to provide bidding instructions in a timely manner, VA will also exclude from the calculation as to whether or not VA will acquire the property interest which accrues during the period of delay, but will allow such interest in the computation of the guaranty claim.

Abstract: The law requires that generally, an individual must contribute to the Post-Vietnam Education Assistance Program (VEAP) fund for 12 months in order to receive educational assistance. So as to encourage participation by servicemembers, the VA has permitted a servicemember who meets all the other eligibility requirements to receive educational assistance after he or she has completed 3 months of contributions to the fund or has made a lump-sum payment which is the equivalent of the least 3 months' contributions to the fund. In order to comply with the law it has been the VA's policy to require these servicemembers to establish a continuing allotment so that they eventually will contribute to the fund for 12 months. However, the regulation which mentions the 3 months' contributions does not mention the 12 months' participation requirement. This has led to instances where servicemembers who have been paid educational assistance, never participated for 12 months. The VA wishes to amend the regulation to correct this.

Legal Authority: 38 USC 706

Abstract: Veterans Special Life Insurance (VSLI) "RS" term policies can be renewed an indefinite number of times. Because of this feature, some insureds have retained this temporary form of protection to meet permanent insurance needs. The problem with this is that at the advanced ages, term insurance premium rates increase significantly and as a result can become financially burdensome. In order to help lessen this burden, regulations are being amended to reflect that premiums for "RS" term policyholders are to be capped at the renewal age 70 premium rate. Funding for "RS" term capping will come exclusively from funds contributed by "RS" term policyholders.

OFFICE OF EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

3431. NONDISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF SEX UNDER FEDERALLY ASSISTED EDUCATION PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES*Significance: Regulatory ProgramLegal Authority: 20 USC 1681 et seq; 38 USC 210(a); EO 12250; EO 12067CFR Citation: 38 CFR 18Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: To establish standards and procedures for enforcing Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 in educational programs and activities receiving Federal financial assistance from the VA. Title IX prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex. There are no alternatives to the issuance of the regulations. Participants, potential participants and the public in general will benefit from Federally assisted programs provided free from prohibited discrimination based on sex.

This originally appeared as a proposed rule in the Federal Register of April 25, 1979 (44 FR 24320). Because of the extended time frame due to internal agency consultation with the Department of Justice, the VA is planning to repropose these regulations.

Abstract: To incorporate a reference to the Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards (UFAS) and update the list of Federal financial assistance programs administered by the VA. The existing regulations require that new construction and alteration of facilities be made in an accessible manner. The regulations provide that new construction or alteration of facilities in conformance with the American National Standard Specifications for Making Building and Facilities Accessible to, and Usable by, the Physically Handicapped (ANSI A117.1-1961 (B 1971)) shall constitute compliance with the accessibility requirements for new construction and alteration of facilities. The proposed revision will replace the current standard with the UFAS, published under the Architectural Barriers Act of 1968. Because some facilities subject to the accessibility requirements of section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 are also subject to the accessibility requirements of the Architectural Barriers Act, this proposal would eliminate any potential conflict between standards enforced under the two statutes.

cooperative research and development agreements (CRDAs) under the Federal Technology Transfer Act of 1986 (15 USC 3710 et. seq.) and EO 12591. EO 12591 provides heads of Federal agencies to delegate the authority to enter into CRDAs to directors of Federal laboratories. It also provides that attorneys assisting in either authorized Agency representations or the recommending of such employees to the Department of Justice for representation have an attorney-client relationship with respect to the attorney-client privilege. This amendment addresses the proliferation of lawsuits against VA employees in recent years. CFR Citation: 38 CFR 13.70; 38 CFR 13.71; 38 CFR 13.74

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: 38 CFR 13.70 defines the conditions under which the Veterans Services Officer may recommend an apportionment of benefits to dependents. The proposed amendment will clarify these conditions. The amendment will also remove a reference to mental illness as the sole criteria for a rating of incompetency.

38 CFR 13.71 is to be amended to make clear that the signing of an institutional award agreement does not waive an institution's right to claim payments under 38 USC 641. This action is the result of an unpublished General Counsel opinion.

38 CFR 13.74 is based on the provisions of 38 USC Sec. 3203(b) (1)(A); however, where the law refers to more than one type of institutional care, the regulation refers only to instances of hospitalization. This would seem to preclude application of the regulation when veterans are in State run nursing homes or other institutions operated by the United States or a political subdivision. The VA, therefore, proposes to correct this defect by substituting the terms "institution" and "institutionalization" where appropriate.

Abstract: The Uniform Relocation Assistance Act Amendments of 1987, established a governmentwide single rule to be published at a single location in the Code of Federal Regulations. The VA is one of 17 Federal agencies that has its own rule currently located in 38 CFR Part 25. The VA is taking part in the common rule to provide for the single rule goal. On December 17, 1987, an interim final rule was published to provide a transition from the existing governmentwide rule and to provide a means for Federal programs to implement the explicit, nondiscretionary provisions of the 1987 amendments.

Abstract: The VA is amending the existing regulations concerning VA lists of names and addresses and is also proposing administrative procedures to use when these lists are used for purposes not authorized by law. This action results from the need to amend the regulations to reflect current procedures, organizational changes, and concern expressed by veterans and some service organizations regarding unsolicited mail. The proposed regulatory amendments will allow the VA to enforce its statutory duty to protect the privacy of information concerning veterans and their dependents, establish procedures to suspend recipients who misuse VA name and address lists of veterans/dependents, and give advance notice to recipients of what constitutes an authorized/unauthorized use of veterans/dependents names and address lists, thereby protecting the due process rights of any recipient before penalties are enforced.

Abstract: This action was originally included in RIN 2900-AC06 as a final rule. The VA subsequently determined that it should be removed from the original package and resubmitted as a proposed rule. Pub. L. 99-166 provided in part that members of the Individual Ready Reserves (IRR) and the Inactive National Guard (ING) are eligible to be issued Veterans Group Life Insurance (VGLI) coverage. This rule merely establishes procedures by which members of the IRR and ING may apply for VGLI.

Abstract: The VA is amending its regulations concerning persons who are included as having served on active duty. This results from a decision by the Secretary of the Air Force that service of members of the group known as American Merchant Marines in Ongoing Service during the Armed Conflict, December 7, 1941, to August 15, 1945, constitutes active military service for the purpose of all laws administered by the VA. This action by the VA confers veteran status for VA benefit purposes on former members of that group who were discharged under honorable conditions.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION (CFTC)

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

17 CFR Ch. I

Regulatory Flexibility Agenda

AGENCY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

ACTION: Publication of regulatory flexibility agenda.

SUMMARY: The Commodity Futures Trading Commission, in accordance with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, is publishing a semiannual agenda of significant rules which the Commission expects to propose or promulgate over the next year. The Commission welcomes comments from small entities and others on the agenda.

ADDRESS: Comments should be sent to: Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20581 (202) 254-6090.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq. ("RFA"), sets forth a number of requirements for agency rulemaking. Among other things, the RFA requires that:

(a) During the months of October and April of each year, each agency shall publish in the Federal Register a regulatory flexibility agenda which shall contain:

(1) A brief description of the subject area of any rule which the agency expects to propose or promulgate which is likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities;

(2) A summary of the nature of any such rule under consideration for each subject area listed in the agenda pursuant to paragraph (1), the objectives and legal basis for the issuance of the rule, and an approximate schedule for completing action on any rule for which the agency has issued a general notice of proposed rulemaking; and

(3) The name and telephone number of an agency official knowledgeable concerning the items listed in paragraph (1).

5 U.S.C. 602(a). Accordingly, the Commission has prepared an agenda of significant rules which it presently expects may be considered during the course of the next year, irrespective of their potential impact on small entities.<sup>1</sup> In addition, the agenda lists rulemaking actions which have been completed since the April 1988 agenda was prepared.

The Commission's agenda represents its best estimate of significant rules which will be considered over the next twelve months.<sup>2</sup> In this regard, section 602(d) of the RFA, 5 U.S.C. 602(d), provides: "Nothing in [section 602] precludes an agency from considering or acting on any matter not included in a regulatory flexibility agenda or requires an agency to consider or act on any matter listed in such agenda."

The Commission is publishing its October 1988 Regulatory Flexibility Agenda as part of the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations. The Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations is coordinated by the Office of Management and Budget pursuant to Executive Order 12291. While participation by executive agencies in the Agenda is mandatory, independent agencies, such as the Commission, participate in the Unified Agenda on a voluntary basis.

The Commission's October 1988 Regulatory Flexibility Agenda is set forth below.

Issued in Washington, DC on September 6, 1988, by the Commission.
Jean A. Webb,
Secretary of the Commission.

<sup>1</sup> The Commission has published its definition of small entity to be used by the Commission in connection with rulemaking proceedings. 47 FR 18618 (April 30, 1982). Pursuant to those definitions, the Commission is not required to list many of the agenda items contained in this regulatory flexibility agenda. See 5 U.S.C. 602(a)(1). Moreover, the Commission has previously certified, pursuant to section 605 of the RFA, 5 U.S.C. 605, that certain items contained in this agenda will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Accordingly, listing of an event in this regulatory flexibility agenda should not, in any event, be taken as a determination that a rule, when proposed or promulgated, will in fact require a regulatory flexibility analysis. However, the Commission hopes that the publication of an agenda which includes significant rules, regardless of their potential impact on small entities, may serve the public generally by providing an early and meaningful opportunity to participate in and comment on the formulation of new or revised regulations.

<sup>2</sup> In addition to publishing the regulatory flexibility agenda, the Commission also makes available to the public, on a monthly basis, a calendar listing rules that the Commission intends to consider that month.

Abstract: The proposed regulation is necessary to ensure proper monitoring of exchanges of futures for physicals. The regulation would require records of customer cash transactions underlying EFPs which are now difficult to access to be routinely retained and provided to the contract market or the Commission upon request. The records would be used to monitor and ensure the bonafides of EFPs. The proposed regulation will constitute the least burdensome method of achieving the Commission's goal of monitoring EFPs.

Abstract: The Commission proposes to adopt rules establishing standards and procedures for Commission review of decisions of registered futures associations such as the National Futures Association ("NFA"). The Commission is proposing specific standards of review for decisions by NFA in four types of actions - disciplinary actions, membership denial actions, registration actions and member responsibility actions. The proposed rules would establish a common procedure for seeking review and a stay of a final decision by NFA in disciplinary, membership denial and registrations actions. The proposed rules would also establish a procedure for seeking review of and a stay of decisions by NFA in a member responsibility action. In proposing these rules, the Commission seeks to promulgate standards for review that will permit NFA to exercise its expertise and independent judgment in the proceedings subject to these rules while providing a person aggrieved by the result of NFA's action an effective means to obtain relief from prejudicial errors in NFA's determination. The Commission also seeks to establish an appellate process that is comprehensive, balanced, efficient and fair.

In an advance notice of proposed rulemaking, the Commission has sought comments concerning a proposed regulatory framework that would clarify the status of such instruments and permit, by exemption and subject to certain conditions, specified hybrid option instruments to be traded other than on a designated contract market. Abstract: Congress has directed the Commission to issue regulations permitting grantors and futures commission merchants to grant, offer and sell so-called "dealer options" on certain physical commodities subject to certain conditions specified by statute and such other uniform and reasonable requirements as the Commission may prescribe. At present, the only persons who may lawfully grant dealer options are United States domiciles who, on May 1, 1978, were in the business of buying, selling, producing or otherwise using that commodity. The Commission has re-proposed rules, principally concerning registration of dealer option grantors, requirements for the segregation of customer funds, disclosure to customers and prospective customers, and minimum financial requirements. The Commission intends to re-evaluate the proposed rules in business day and the previous day's debit or deficit was not timely satisfied in its entirety by the deposit of new funds. The second amendment is an enhancement of the financial early warning system which requires an FCM to notify its designated self-regulatory organization and the Commission immediately when it determines that an account it is carrying is undermargined by an amount which exceeds its adjusted net capital. The Commission also repropose a rule to clarify the requirements for and treatment of a guaranteed account.

3572. ● EXEMPTION FROM SPECULATIVE POSITION LIMITS FOR POSITIONS WHICH HAVE A COMMON OWNER BUT ARE INDEPENDENTLY CONTROLLED

Legal Authority: 7 USC 6a; 7 USC 12(a)(5)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 150

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Commodity Futures Trading Commission has long established and enforced speculative position limits for futures contracts on various agricultural commodities. The Commission recently revised Federal speculative position limits with respect to both the structure and level of such limits. 52 FR 38914 (October 20, 1987). The Commission at that time noted that the remaining portion of its reexamination of speculative position limits would involve issues relating to aggregation policy. In this regard the Commission recently proposed rule amendments providing an exemption from speculative position limits for positions which have a common owner but are independently controlled. In particular, the proposed rules provide for a case-by-case determination regarding applications for exemptions for independent account controllers from speculative position limits.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 6a; 7 USC 12(a)(5)

Abstract: The Commission has long established and enforced speculative position limits for futures contracts and various agricultural commodities. The Commission recently revised Federal speculative position limits with respect to both the structure and level of such limits. 52 FR 38914 (October 20, 1987). Recently the Commission received a petition for rulemaking to restore an exemption from speculative position limits for futures positions which are spread against other futures positions. In addition, the Commission has noted the need for a technical modification of its rules concerning futures/options spreads. Accordingly, the Commission is proposing rules to exempt or provide higher limits for certain futures spread positions and to clarify that futures/options spreads may exceed the futures speculative position limits only where the position is outside the spot month.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Commission requires exchange clearing organizations to maintain a record regarding transactions on the exchange in futures and options contracts. As part of that requirement, each clearing organization's trade register must include for each futures or option transaction a customer-type indicator.

In light the the Commission's routine surveillance needs, as well as the increased number of special studies undertaken by the Commission regarding the trading of stock index futures and options on such futures contracts, the Commission is proposing to expand the required reporting of customer-type indicators to include two specified categories of trades in those contracts, specifically index arbitrage and substitution transactions. Although the Commission's existing reporting systems have worked well, the Commission believes that the proposed enhancement to exchange audit trail systems will greatly facilitate the compilation of accurate information concerning the execution times of trades involving index arbitrage and substitution transactions on an even more accurate and timely basis without necessitating numerous special calls for information.

Regulatory Flexibility Act; Semiannual Regulatory Flexibility and Unified Agendas

AGENCY: Consumer Product Safety Commission.

ACTION: Publication of regulatory flexibility and unified agendas.

SUMMARY: The Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) requires each Federal agency to publish twice each year a regulatory flexibility agenda listing the rules expected to be proposed or promulgated which are likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, including small businesses, small organizations, and small governmental units. In this document, the Commission publishes its semiannual regulatory flexibility agenda.

Additionally, although not required to do so, the Commission has elected to comply voluntarily with those provisions of Executive Order 12291 which require executive agencies to publish an agenda of regulatory actions expected to be under development or review by the agency during the succeeding 12 months and which further provide that such an agenda may be combined with an agency's regulatory flexibility agenda published in accordance with the RFA.

DATE: The Commission welcomes comments on each subject area of the agenda, particularly from small entities. Written comments concerning the agenda should be received in the Office of the Secretary by December 31, 1988.

ADDRESS: Comments on the regulatory flexibility agenda should be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, DC 20207, telephone (301) 492-6800, and should be titled "Regulatory Flexibility Agenda."

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information on the agenda in general, contact: Allen F. Brauning, Office of the General Counsel, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, DC 20207, telephone (301) 492-6980. For further information regarding a particular item on the agenda, consult the individual listed in the column headed "Contact" for that particular item.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601-612, contains several provisions intended to reduce unnecessary and disproportionate regulatory requirements on small businesses, small governmental organizations, and other small entities. Section 602 of the Act, 5 U.S.C. 602, requires each agency to publish twice each year a regulatory flexibility agenda containing a brief description of the subject area of any rule expected to be proposed or promulgated which is likely to have a "significant economic impact" on a "substantial number" of small entities. The agency must also provide a summary of the nature of the rule, the objectives and legal basis for the rule, and a schedule for acting on each rule for which the agency has issued a notice of proposed rulemaking. The Regulatory Flexibility Agenda shall also contain the name and address of the agency official knowledgeable about the items listed. Further, agencies are required to provide notice of their agendas to small entities and to solicit their comments by direct notification or by inclusion in publications likely to be obtained by such entities.

In addition, President Reagan's Executive Order 12291 requires executive agencies to publish, twice each year, a regulatory agenda of proposed regulations under development or current regulations under review and further states that such an agenda may be combined with an agenda published under the RFA. While the Commission, as an independent regulatory agency, is not required to follow Executive Order 12291, the Commission is complying voluntarily with those provisions concerning publication of a regulatory agenda.

The regulatory flexibility agenda published below lists, for a 12-month period, the regulatory activities expected to be under development or review. These include all such activities, not only those which may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

The agenda contains a brief description and summary of each regulatory activity, including the objectives and legal basis for each; an approximate schedule of target dates, subject to revision, for the development or completion of each activity; and the name and telephone number of a knowledgeable agency official concerning particular items on the agenda. All agency contacts have the same address: Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, DC 20207.

Dated: September 22, 1988.

Sadye E. Dunn,
Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Abstract: On January 19, 1983, the Commission published an Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking soliciting comments on ways to amend the existing requirements for child-resistant packaging to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of these requirements. In June, 1985, the Commission staff completed testing to determine the feasibility of using some of the alternate procedures for evaluation of child-resistant packaging described in the ANPR. In August 1987, the Commission considered the comments received in response to the ANPR and the staff's recommendations regarding revision of existing requirements for child-resistant packaging. The Commission directed the staff to prepare draft proposals to amend the test protocols used to evaluate the effectiveness of child-resistant packaging. The staff is preparing a briefing package concerning specific revisions to the child test protocol and the adult test protocol. The staff anticipates that it will transmit the briefing package to the Commission in December 1988.

In accordance with a preliminary consent decree filed on December 30, 1987, with the U.S. District Court of the District of Columbia in U.S. v. American Honda Motor Co. et al. (Civil Action No. 87-3525 SS), the Commission has provided a draft of a proposed safety standard for ATVs to manufacturers. The final consent decree, approved on April 28, 1988, (Civil Act No. 87-3525 GAG) provides that manufacturers will attempt in good faith to reach agreement on a voluntary standard acceptable to the Commission within four months. On September 26, 1988, the manufacturers submitted a voluntary standard for the Commission's consideration.

Abstract: On October 14, 1986, Mr. Mark Germine petitioned the Commission to ban: consumer products that contain limestone, including lawn and garden limestones, both granular and pulverized; sand products, including play sand; and consumer gravel products; if such products contain more than 0.01 percent of tremolite. Mr. Germine bases his request for a ban on a concern that tremolite in these products is carcinogenic and causes mesothelioma. Abstract: On September 19, 1986, the Commission received a petition from the National Kerosene Heater Association (NKHA). The association requested that the Commission initiate proceeding under the Consumer Product Safety Act to develop a kerosene heater rule containing requirements to limit nitrogen dioxide emissions of kerosene heaters and all of the requirements for kerosene heaters now contained in UL Standard 647. At about the same time, the International Association of Fire Chiefs (IAFC) requested the Commission to require the kerosene heater industry to provide notice and warning labels on all kerosene heaters sold in the United States alerting the consumer that unvented portable kerosene heaters are subject to spontaneous and uncontrollable flare-up with flames extending outside the cabinet. The staff briefed the Commission on the petition from NKHA and the request from IAFC in September 1988. If the Commission grants the petition from NKHA or the request from IAFC, it will begin a rulemaking proceeding under the Consumer Product Safety Act.

Abstract: On March 3, 1988, the Commission published an Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (ANPRM) to announce its preliminary determination that unreasonable risks of death and injury may be associated with cigarette lighters because they are not sufficiently resistant to operation by children. The Commission staff is analyzing comments received in response to the ANPRM. A test protocol using panels of children and adults is under development. The test protocol will be used to determine the child resistance of lighters now on the market and to evaluate lighter modifications reported to be more child resistant. A child resistant cigarette lighter standard will be developing using the test protocol as a basis.

The Council bases its request on reports of high blood lead levels in children and adults associated with the use of air paint removal tools in the rehabilitation of residences which have paint with high lead levels. Abstract: The Commission has a regulation applicable to toys and other articles intended for children under three years old that prescribes a test cylinder to determine if articles, or detachable parts of such articles, present a choking hazard to young children. Articles or components which fit within the test cylinder are banned. Although this regulation has been in effect for several years, choking incidents involving young children continue to occur. The Commission has established a project to gather information about the nature and causes of these incidents and to make recommendations for any additional measures needed to reduce injuries and deaths from such incidents, including modification of the small parts test cylinder. The Commission published an ANPRM on June 7, 1988, to solicit comments on ways to address choking hazards to young children, including specific modifications of the test cylinder requested in a petition from the Consumer Federal of America and the New York Attorney General's Office.

Abstract: On August 20, 1988, the Commission proposed a rule to declare that household products containing methylene chloride are hazardous substances under the Federal Hazardous Substances Act. These products include some paint strippers and spray paints. The Commission's concern arises from animal tests showing that methylene chloride is a carcinogen by inhalation and studies indicating a significant human exposure as a result of reasonably foreseeable use of products containing methylene chloride. The initiation of this rulemaking proceeding granted one part of a petition (HP 85-1) from the Consumer Federation of America. The staff provided an analysis of the comments on the proposed rule to the Commission in June 1987. In August 1987, the Commission determined that there was insufficient controversy over the status of methylene chloride as a hazardous substance; therefore, the Commission suspended the rulemaking and issued a statement of enforcement policy stating the Commission's view that household products that contain methylene chloride and that expose consumers to significant levels of methylene chloride are (cont.)

Packaging Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 1700.14

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: On June 22, 1988, the Commission granted a petition which requested amendment of a regulation exempting certain medroxyprogesterone acetate tablets from special packaging requirements. The Commission directed the staff to prepare a draft Federal Register notice to propose an amendment of that regulation to exempt medroxyprogesterone acetate tablets dispensed in mnemonic packages containing no more than 100 milligrams of the drug from requirements for child-resistant packaging. The Commission expects to publish a notice of proposed rulemaking in October 1988.

Safety Act

Abstract: Lawn darts are devices intended to be used outdoors by being thrown upward and striking the ground point first. Lawn darts intended for use by children are banned by a regulation issued under the Federal Hazardous Substances Act. However, and exemption to this rule allows the sale of lawn darts which are labeled with warnings that they are not toys and should not be used by children, are accompanied with instructions for safe use, and are not sold in toy stores or store departments which deal primarily in toys or other children's articles.

Despite these restrictions, children continue to suffer serious injuries and deaths while playing with lawn darts.
On October 20, 1987, the Commission published an ANPR which set forth several regulatory options to address risks of death and injury to children associated with lawn darts and solicited comments and information or issues raised by the ANPR. After considering comments received in response to the ANPR and other available information, on July 29, 1988, the Commission proposed a rule to ban all lawn darts having the potential to cause skull puncture injuries.

Abstract: On December 22, 1987, the Commission proposed to amend a regulation which exempts conjugated estrogen tablets in certain mnemonic packages from requirements for child-resistant packaging. The proposed amendment would increase the amount of the drug allowed in each non-child-resistant package from 26.5 milligrams to 32 milligrams. The staff sent a briefing package and a draft of a final rule to the Commission in September 1988. On September 27, 1988, the Commission voted to issue the exemption.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION (FCA)*FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION*12 CFR Ch. VI*Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations

AGENCY: Farm Credit Administration.

ACTION: Department Unified Agenda of Regulations and review list.

SUMMARY: The Farm Credit Administration (FCA), as an independent regulatory agency in voluntary compliance with Executive Order 12291, sets forth the following agenda of regulations which it will have under development and review during the period of October 1988 through April 1989.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Cindy R. Nicholson, Office of General Counsel, Farm Credit Administration, 1501 Farm Credit Drive, McLean, Virginia 22102-5090, (703) 883-4020, TDD (703) 883-4444.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601, et seq.), contains several provisions intended to reduce unnecessary and disproportionate regulatory requirements on small entities. Farm Credit Administration regulations which apply to Farm Credit System banks and associations do not and will not have a substantial impact on small entities. None of the entities regulated by the FCA fall within the definition of small entities in the Regulatory Flexibility Act. While many associations through which banks lend are smaller in size than their banks, they are not independently operated, as they are closely supervised by the banks, which must approve most of their operating policies. The associations rely exclusively on their supervising banks for their source of funds. Furthermore, the associations do not compete with each other since, as with their supervising banks, each serves only a particular geographic area.

While FCA is an independent agency exempt from Executive Order 12291, we believe that participating in this joint publication will further the public interest by including FCA in a single source of information concerning current and projected rulemaking and reviews of existing regulations.

Dated: August 26, 1988.

David A. Hill,

Secretary, Farm Credit Administration Board.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION (FCC)

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

47 CFR Ch. I

Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations; October 1988

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Publication of the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

SUMMARY: Twice a year, the Commission publishes a list in the Unified Agenda of those major items and other significant proceedings under development or review that pertain to the Regulatory Flexibility Act. The agenda also provides the CFR Citations and Legal Authorities which govern these proceedings. The Regulatory Flexibility Act (94 Stat. 1167; 5 U.S.C.
605) includes notations on the applicability of the Regulatory Flexibility Act to each item.

The Unified Agenda is published in the Federal Register in April and October of each year.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, 1919 M Street, NW.,
Washington, DC 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:
Tenecia Moncrief, Office of Managing Director, (202) 632-3906.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Unified Agenda of Major and Other Significant Proceedings.

The Commission encourages public participation in the FCC rulemaking process. To help keep the public informed of significant rulemaking proceedings, the Commission has prepared an agenda of important proceedings now in progress. OMB publishes the Unified Agenda in the Federal Register in April and October of each year.

The following terms may be helpful in understanding the status of the proceedings included in this report:

A Docket Number - is assigned to a proceeding if the Commission has issued either a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking or a Notice of Inquiry in regard to the matter under consideration. Since January 1, 1978, the Commission has used docket numbers which consist of the last two digits of the calendar year in which the docket was established plus a sequential number which begins at 1 with the first docket initiated during a calendar year (e.g., Docket 80-1 or Docket 83-1). The abbreviation for the responsible Bureau usually precedes the docket number, as in "CC Docket 79-164." When a docket number consists of only five digits (e.g., Docket 29822), this indicates that the docket was established before January 1, 1978.

Notice of Inquiry (NOI) - issued by the Commission when it is seeking information on a broad subject or trying to generate ideas on a given topic. A comment period is specified during which all interested parties may submit comments.

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) - issued by the Commission when it is proposing a specific change to the FCC Rules and Regulations. Before any changes are actually made, interested parties may submit written comments on the proposals.

Memorandum Opinion and Order (MO&O) - issued by the Commission to deny a petition for rulemaking, conclude an inquiry, modify a decision, or deny a petition for reconsideration of a decision.

Rulemaking (RM) Number - assigned to a proceeding after the appropriate Bureau/Office has reviewed a petition for rulemaking, but before the Commission has taken action on the petition.

Report & Order (R&O) - issued by the Commission to state a new or amended rule or state that the FCC Rules will not be changed.

H. Walker Feaster,

Acting Secretary, Federal Communications Commission.

The plan applies to dominant carriers other than Comsat and Alascom. The Commission reaffirms its tentative finding that the price cap method of regulation will promote efficiency and innovation and benefit consumers more effectively than rate-of-return regulation

Abstract: The Commission seeks to develop a record & to solicit comments on the proposed rules. These proposed rules are designed to implement recommendations made by the joint industry/government Advisory Committee on 2 degree satellite spacing; and they will codify basic applications requirements for satellite services. The proposed rules would apply to all entities including small entities who seek authorization under Part 25 of the Commission's rules to construct and operate Fixed-Satellite communications facilities. The proposed rules would establish operational and technical procedures designed to alleviate adjacent satellite interference and may increase the reporting and cost burdens on all satellite licensees. The rules codifying basic applications requirements are codifications of existing policies. Will impose no additional burdens, and may, in fact, reduce the burden by eliminating several current requirements. In order to be effective, these rules must apply to all licensees and thus there is no significant alternative.

3650. ● IN THE MATTER OF AN AUTOMATIC TRANSMITTER IDENTIFICATION SYSTEM (ATIS) FOR RADIO TRANSMITTING EQUIPMENT (GEN. DOC. #86-337)

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory, October 20, 1988. Other, Statutory, September 14, 1987.
 Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking
Abstract: This proceeding looks to establish a means by which radio emissions might be encoded with a distinct automatically transmitted identifier to benefit orderly management of the radio spectrum by identifying the source of radio frequency interference to other radio signals. For video satellite uplink stations regulated under Part 25 of the Commission's rules, it proposes rules regarding such identifiers. There are no significant alternatives being considered that are consistent with stated objectives. Every operator of a satellite video uplink would be required to purchase and operate a device to insert identification on all transmissions. Approximately 1,000 stations would be involved. Each encoder would cost under $2000. Operating upkeep expenses should be minimal.

3692. SECURITIES RECORDKEEPING AND CONFIRMATIONS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1817; 12 USC 1818; 12 USC 1819

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 344

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The FDIC expects to propose an amendment to 12 CFR Part 344, which governs an insured nonmember bank's recordkeeping and confirmation requirements for securities transactions. The proposed amendment would expand an existing exception under Part 344 for low activity. The exception would be increased to allow banks which effect an average of fewer than 1,000 securities transactions per year to be exempt from certain recordkeeping and written policymaking requirements. The current "low-activity" threshold is 200 transactions per year. The amendment is needed to eliminate unnecessary paperwork burden and is intended to reduce the impact of FDIC's regulation on insured nonmember banks that engage in a low number of securities transactions per year.

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 326

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The FDIC amended Part 326 of its Rules and Regulations covering minimum security devices and procedures and Bank Secrecy Act compliance. Among other things, the amendment reduces the overall recordkeeping burden by eliminating the requirement that insured nonmember banks retain a record identifying the law enforcement official consulted on security matters. However, the consultation continues to be mandated.

Other technical changes were made to the regulation. The term "insured nonmember bank" has been substituted for the term "insured state nonmember bank" whenever the latter term previously appeared in Part 326. This was done to clarify the applicability of all sections of Part 326 to insured branches of foreign banks.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 791a to 828c

The proposed rule would establish a

Abstract: Order No. 500 is an interim rule that readopted the regulations promulgated in Order No. 436 with one addition and one deletion. Order No. 500 added a requirement that producers submit an offer of take-or-pay credits to an open access pipeline in order to make the pipeline's gas eligible for transportation (unless the pipeline and producer agree to a different arrangement); it deleted the customers' contract demand reduction option. Order Nos. 500-A, 500-B, 500-C and 500-D made changes to the crediting provisions and extended certain deadlines. Rehearing of the Order No. 500 interim rule was denied in Order No. 500-E. Abstract: The Commission proposed to streamline regulation of a class of non-traditional utility suppliers, called independent power producers (IPPS). The proposed regulations would: (1) authorize rates for IPPS to be determined through competition or rate negotiation subject to a price cap, thereby freeing IPPS from cost-based ratemaking while ensuring that rates fall within a zone of reasonableness; (2) authorize IPPs to file rate schedules without having to provide extensive cost support; (3) exempt IPPS from cost-related accounting, reporting and recordkeeping requirements; (4) streamline the corporate and financial regulation of IPPS; (5) provide the blanket prior authorizations to engage in certain corporate activities; and (6) adopt and advance certification procedures to qualify as an IPP. The proposed revisions to Part 509 would streamline prehearing procedures with a view toward expediting the proceedings, clarify the authority of Administrative Law Judges appointed to conduct the proceedings, and add several new provisions. The proposed revisions to Part 512 would be of a clarifying and technical nature and would update several provisions of the rules relating to the conduct of investigative and formal examination proceedings.

Abstract: The Bank Board is proposing to amend its regulations governing applications for membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank ("FHLBank") System by institutions that have been removed from membership under the National Housing Act by virtue of the termination of Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation ("FSLIC") insurance of their accounts. Specifically, the proposal would amend Part 523 of the Boards Rules and Regulations for the Federal Home Loan Bank System, to provide that an FHLBank member that terminates its status as an FSLIC-insured institution and is thereby removed from FHLBank membership (as well as any other member whose membership is terminated pursuant to section 6(i) of the Federal Home Loan Bank Act), may be readmitted as a member only after the expiration of a five year period following its departure from the FHLBank System.

There are no alternatives that would be less burdensome than the proposal in addressing the concerns expressed above.

The potential costs and benefits of the proposed regulation on the industry have not been quantified.

Abstract: The Board is proposing extensive revisions to its regulations governing the conservatorship and receivership of associations chartered by the Board or the accounts of which that are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. The Board will unify the appointment of receiver procedures for state and federal institutions; adopt procedures for appointment of receivers under section 406(c)(1)(B) of the National Housing Act; and address the priorities in liquidation and participation interests in liquidation, which are absent from or inadequately covered in the present regulations. The Board is also proposing that its regulations cover topics such as the effect of the receivership appointment on executory contracts, employment agreements, certain "Golden Parachute" agreements, participation agreements, repurchase agreements, and on agreements relating to secured and unsecured borrowings by an insured institution, including agreements providing for prepayment or default penalties. The proposed regulations provide for new rules of general applicability in the areas previously mentioned, clarify existing provisions, and reorganize and recodify all the (cont)

There are no alternatives being considered by the Board in lieu of the proposed regulation that would have less impact on small institutions, consistent with the intended result, than the concerns expressed in the supplementary information to the proposed rule and the existing statutory requirements concerning receiverships and conservatorships.

The potential costs and benefits of the proposed regulation on the industry have not been quantified.

On July 5, 1988, the Board promulgated as a final rule certain portions of this proposed rule.(53 F.R.25129) The final rule establishes a priority structure for unsecured claims applicable to all FSLIC receiverships under a new Part 569c of Title 12 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Abstract: The Bank Board is proposing extensive revisions to its regulations regarding the corporate governance of Federal associations in order to update and clarify these regulations. Due to the magnitude of the revisions, the Bank Board has presented the proposal in parts, issued separately for public comment. The proposed regulations would reorganize portions of Subchapter C (the regulations for federally chartered associations) and amend and add sections to provide a more cohesive and complete body of rules for the corporate governance of Federal associations. Part I, previously proposed, would provide definitions and rules for the organization and incorporation of Federal associations. Part II, also previously proposed, would contain provisions regarding the corporate structure and governing processes for Federal stock associations and Federal mutual associations. Part III proposes revisions to the rules governing operations of and charter conversion from and to Federal associations. loans used by all institutions the accounts of which are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation ("FSLIC") or affiliates thereof when preparing reports or financial statements for filing with the Bank Board or the FSLIC. The amendments relate to the recent "Notice to Practitioners" issued by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, which superseded two prior notices issued in November 1983 and November 1984, and to the public position regarding the effective date of the recent notice taken by the Chief Accountant of the Securities and Exchange Commission. By proposing this amendment to its statement of policy, the Bank Board is adhering to its policy that insured institutions are expected to apply the guidance of the accounting profession for determining whether a transaction characterized as an ADC loan is in fact a loan or whether, in substance, it is a real estate investment or a joint venture. The proposed rule would apply equally to all insured institutions. (cont)

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1464; 12 USC 1727; 12 USC 1730

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 565Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Bank Board is reviewing a number of issues relating to the extent to which institutions insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation ("FSLIC") that terminate their insured status in connection with transfers by operation of law must pay a final insurance premium to the FSLIC. As part of its review, the Bank Board is soliciting public comment to ascertain whether to issue a proposal in this area. On October 7, 1986, the Bank Board adopted a clarifying amendment to the definition of "transfers" set forth in its statement of policy regarding mergers and transfers of assets. (12 CFR 571.5(a)). However, as the clarification indicates, the interpretation did not specifically address the separate issues of whether an insured institution undertaking a transfer of assets and liabilities by operation of law in which the surviving entity is not FSLIC-insured must pay a final insurance premium to the FSLIC, and if so, the amount of such payment. The Bank Board has been reviewing this so-called "exit premium" issue on an ongoing basis and as yet has made no final determination with respect to this matter.

3729. INDEMNIFICATION OF DIRECTORS, OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES OF FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANKS*Legal Authority: 5 USC 553CFR Citation: 12 CFR 522.72Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Bank Board is proposing to amend its regulations governing the indemnification of directors, officers, and employees of the Federal Home Loan Banks ("FHL Banks"). This amendment would clarify that expenses incurred by FHL Bank directors, officers, and employees in connection with litigation are to be reimbursed as they are incurred, but that, by majority vote of its board of directors, a FHL Bank could require repayment of expenses that it finds to have been beyond the scope of the Bank Board's indemnification regulation. The proposal applies only to directors, officers, and employees of the FHL Banks, none of which falls within the definition of a "small financial institution" given by the Small Business Administration.

There are no alternatives that would be less burdensome than the proposal in addressing the concerns expressed above.

The potential costs and benefits of the proposal on the industry have not been quantified.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1727

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 563.15; 12 CFR 563.16

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Bank Board is proposing to amend its Insurance Regulations by adding a new regulation regarding the assessment of additional insurance premiums against institutions the accounts of which are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation ("FSLIC") The proposal would implement by regulation the FSLIC's authority to assess additional insurance premiums and would provide for an adjustment of such premiums based on insured institutions' capital levels. In the Board's view, it is important to base the amount of additional insurance premiums assessed on the amount of capital held by an insured institution because capital provides the most effective buffer against loss and risk to the FSLIC fund. The primary purpose of the proposal is to offer insured institutions an incentive to raise capital.

There are no alternatives that would be less burdensome than the proposal in addressing the concerns expressed above.

Abstract: The Board is proposing to adopt amendments to 12 CFR 545.74, its service corporation regulations, by inserting a new paragraph 545.74(c)(4) "security brokerage activities" and renumbering subsequent paragraphs. The purpose to the proposed amendments is to enable service corporations to commence certain types of securities brokerage activities, without preparing an application and obtaining individual Board approval. The amendments designate certain types of securities brokerage activities as preapproved service corporation activities.

Other alternatives, such as the present rules, may tend to prolong the waiting period for permission to engage in brokerage activities. More liberal provisions may raise questions of statutory authority.

The potential costs and benefits of the proposed regulation on the industry have not been quantified.

Abstract: The Board is proposing to amend its regulations governing institutions insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation by adopting a statement of policy and by amending its rules to clarify that insured institutions must account for securities held for investment sale and/or trading in accordance with generally acceptable accounting procedures ("GAAP"). The proposed policy statement requires an insured institution's board of directors to document and monitor its investment in policy and strategies; discuss the appropriate documentation of investment decisions; summarize GAAP applicable to securities held for investment, sale, and/or trading; and offer guidance on the application of GAAP by insured institutions in determining when securities should be accounted for as a security held for trading. The Board's intent is to provide guidance and clarifications to insured institutions on the accounting for and classification of investment in securities within the confines of existing accounting literature.

Abstract: The Bank Board has amended its regulations pertaining to the settlement of insurance by deleting the requirement that each co-owner of a joint account must personally execute a signature card for the account in order for the account to be separately insured. The Bank Board believes the present rule has caused hardship to depositors and added to the recordkeeping burden on institutions without appreciably reducing the risks of fraudulent claims of entitlement to separate joint account insurance coverage. The Bank Board amendments also consolidate provisions of its regulations governing joint accounts, clarify the provisions affecting joint accounts established by intermediaries and revise the appendix and examples illustrating joint account insurance coverage.

There are no alternatives that would be less burdensome than the rule in addressing the concerns described above.

Section 1359 of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986, Pub.L.No. 99-570, required establishment of a Bank Secrecy Act compliance program by April 27, 1987.

Abstract: The Bank Board is proposing to amend for purposes of clarification, its recently adopted regulation which requires insured institutions to establish and maintain procedures to assure and monitor compliance with the requirements of the Bank Secrecy Act ("BSA"), including the Currency and Foreign Transactions Reporting Act and the implementing regulations of the U.S. Department of the Treasury, 31 CFR Part 103. The proposed rule sets forth in greater detail the elements required to be in a BSA compliance program, in particular, the requirements of BSA compliance testing and continuing education. The proposed rule would apply equally to all insured institutions.

The proposed rule for BSA compliance programs establishes a minimum system for verifying and encouraging compliance with the BSA in accordance with Congressional concern.

Alternatively, the Bank Board could have required an in-depth audit of insured institutions' compliance by independent auditors. The Bank Board believes that such an alternative would have been less flexible and more restrictive for insured institutions.

Currently, the Regulations provide for Bank Stock to be issued in certificated form only, but on the basis of an earlier legal opinion by the Board's Office of General Counsel, some Banks are now issuing uncertificated stock. The amendment would clarify a Bank's authority both to issue uncertificated stock or convert certificated stock to book entry form. The Bank Board proposed to amend its public access to information regulations on fees and fee waivers in order to comply with the Freedom of Information Reform Act of 1986 ("FOI Reform Act"). The Bank Board's regulations are issued in conformance with Office of Management and Budget ("OMB") guidelines and schedule of fees. Pursuant to the FOI Reform Act and the final OMB guidelines, the Bank Board proposes to set fees to recover the full direct costs incurred by the Bank Board in searching for, reviewing, and duplicating documents in response to FOIA requests. New fees are established for manual search, computer search, and review of records. In compliance with the FOI Reform Act, requesters are classified into four categories for the purposes of making fee assessments; commercial use requesters; educational and noncommercial scientific institution requesters; representatives of the news media; and all other requesters.

Specifically, the Board is amending its regulations to allow insured institutions to engage in over-the-counter ("OTC") financial option transactions with certain types of counterparties in addition to primary dealers in government securities. The amendments are intended to allow insured institutions to use more effectively the authority previously granted to them to engage in OTC option transactions. AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

ACTION: Semiannual agenda.

SUMMARY: The Board is issuing this Agenda under the Regulatory Flexibility Act and the Board's Statement of Policy Regarding Expanded Rulemaking Procedures. The Board anticipates having under consideration regulatory matters as indicated below during the period from October 1, 1988 through April 1, 1989. The next Semiannual Agenda will be published in April 1989.

DATE: Comments about the form or content of the Agenda may be submitted any time during the next six months.

ADDRESS: Comments should be addressed to William W. Wiles, Secretary of the Board, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, DC 20551.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: A staff contact for each item is indicated with the regulatory description below.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Board is publishing its October 1988 Agenda as part of the October 1988 Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations, which is coordinated by the Office of Management and Budget under Executive Order 12291. Participation by the Board in the Unified Agenda is on a voluntary basis.

The Board's Agenda is divided into three sections. The first, Proposed Rule Stage, reports on matters the Board may consider for public comment during the next six months. The second section, Final Rule Stage, reports on matters that have been proposed and are under Board consideration. A third section, Completed Actions, reports on regulatory matters the Board has completed or is not expected to consider further.

A dot (●) preceding an entry indicates a new matter that was not a part of the Board's previous Agenda, and which the Board has not completed.

Barbara R. Lowrey,
Associate Secretary of the Board.

Proposed Rule Stage

3771. REGULATION: E - ELECTRONIC FUND TRANSFERS

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1693 et seq
Electronic Fund Transfer Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 205

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: During the next six months, the Board will conduct a review of Regulation E, which implements the Electronic Fund Transfer Act, and establishes the basic rights, liabilities, and responsibilities of consumers who use electronic fund transfer services and of financial institutions that offer these services (whether or not these institutions hold the consumer's account). The review will consider whether any provisions of the regulation are in need of updating and whether any substantive changes are necessary because of technological developments. The Board will also consider whether to make any legislative recommendations for statutory changes.

Public comment will be requested on any regulatory proposals that may be developed following the review. It is not anticipated that the revisions would have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small banks.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 211

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Board will consider an amendment to its regulation governing the establishment of foreign operating subsidiaries by member banks. The amendment would eliminate the requirement in section 211.3(b)(9) of Regulation K that a member bank's operating subsidiary be established only where required by local law or regulation. The revision is intended to promote the efficiency of member banks' foreign operations. Because the revision would remove a restriction, it is not anticipated that comment will be requested.

The proposal would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small businesses because it affects only U.S. banks operating abroad.

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 211

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Board will consider whether to publish for public comment a proposed amendment to Regulation K to permit U.S. banking organizations to engage in a broader range of activities abroad. Specifically, the Board will consider whether U.S. banking organizations should be permitted to underwrite, distribute, and deal in equity securities outside the United States in excess of the current restriction in Regulation K, which prohibits a subsidiary of a U.S. banking organization from making an underwriting commitment for shares of an issuer in excess of: (i) $2 million, or (ii) 20 percent of the capital and surplus of the issuer's voting shares, unless covered by binding commitments from subunderwriters or other purchasers.

In addition, the Board will consider whether the purchases of shares of companies held in trading accounts should continue to be subject to the investment procedures set out in Regulation K at 12 CFR 211.5(c).

It is not expected that the proposal would have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1881 to 1884

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 216

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: During the next six months, the Board will conduct a zero-based review of Regulation P, which implements the Bank Protection Act of 1968, and establishes minimum security standards for Federal Reserve Banks and for State member banks. The review will consider whether any provisions of the regulation are outdated and whether any substantive changes are necessary because of new technological developments. The regulation will also be reorganized and revised for simplicity and clarity. Public comment will be requested following the zero-based review. It is not anticipated that the revised regulation will have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small banks.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 78g Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended; 15 USC 78w Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 220

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: During the next four months the Board may consider proposing amendments to Regulation T to accommodate settlement and clearance of foreign securities in accounts covered by Regulation T. A request has been made that amendments be proposed because of the growing internationalization of the securities markets. It is not anticipated that any proposals in this area would affect a significant portion of the overall lending activities of a substantial number of small firms.

Abstract: Several national securities exchanges have proposed trading new stock-index-related products, often called "index participations." Because these products may not fit the existing categories of securities in Regulation T, it is expected that the Board will address the marginability of these products at broker-dealers.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1843 Bank Holding Company Act; 12 USC 1844(b) Bank Holding Company Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 225

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: A provision of Regulation Y permits a State bank subsidiary of a bank holding company to engage through a nonbank subsidiary in any activity that is permissible under State law for the bank subsidiary itself, subject to the same limits as if the bank engages in the activity directly. (A similar rule applies to national bank subsidiaries regarding activities permissible for such banks under Federal law.) The Board received comments on this provision in connection with its general request for comments in May 1983 regarding the proposed revision of Regulation Y. Some of the commenters challenged the Board's authority to issue this provision, although it has been part of Regulation Y since 1971. In taking final action on the revision of Regulation Y, the Board deferred consideration of the comments on this provision and allowed the existing rule to remain in effect in the interim (49 FR 794, January 5, 1984).

Legal Authority: 12 USC 4001 et seq

CFR Citation: None

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In December 1987, the Board published for comment several proposals that have the potential to improve the check collection system (52 FR 47112, December 11, 1987). They are, however, long-term proposals that are not likely to be implemented in the immediate future. They include bar-code indorsements, digitized image processing of checks, electronic clearing zones, and an electronic clearing house.

If these were to be introduced, they would likely have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small banks and small entities including State and local governments that use their services.

The Board will review the public comments and take further action within the next twelve months.

3779. ● PRIVATE SECTOR PRESENTMENT (DOCKET NUMBER: R-0631)

Legal Authority: 12 USC 4008(c)

CFR Citation: None

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In April 1988, the Board requested comment on whether it should require paying banks to pay for checks presented by private sector collecting banks before 2:00 p.m. in same-day funds and without imposing presentment fees (53 FR 11911, April 11, 1988). The purpose of such a regulation would be to speed the forward collection of checks by requiring paying banks to accept checks without charging a fee later in the day, thus increasing the number of checks that can be collected that day. It would give private sector collecting banks the same rights vis-a-vis paying banks as the Federal Reserve Banks now have.

The Board has not yet made a specific proposal to amend its regulation in this regard. Rather, it is merely requesting comment on the idea of same-day payment in private sector presentments. If such a regulation were to be adopted, small entities that might be affected include small banks and State and local governments.

The Board will review the public comments and determine whether to propose specific regulations.

Abstract: In May 1988, the Board issued for comment rules to clarify the definition of "deposit" in Regulation D to include the interest or liability associated with a borrowing in the form of certain sales of assets and related transactions by a depository institution (51 FR 16855, May 7, 1986). These transactions include a sale of assets that involves a full guarantee by the institution that, in effect, substitutes the institution's credit standing for that of the ultimate borrower and in which the institution retains the risk of borrower default after the asset is sold.

Further, the regulation currently treats obligations of an affiliate as deposits of the depository institution to the extent

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In June 1988, the Board issued for comment an amendment to Regulation H designed to facilitate the fullest possible dissemination of publicly available information regarding the condition of State member banks (53 FR 19308, June 3, 1988). The amendment would require such banks to make available upon request their year-end reports of condition or other suitable documents describing their condition.

The proposal is not likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small banks since it would impose no new reporting requirements, but simply require banks to make existing documents available to members of the public.

Abstract: In August 1985, the Board published for comment proposed regulations that would restrict lending by an Edge Corporation to its affiliates where the Edge Corporation is not subject to the restrictions of Section 23A of the Federal Reserve Act (12 USC 371c) because it is not owned by a U.S. insured bank (50 FR 35238, August 30, 1985). In taking this action, the Board noted the increasing number of owners of Edge Corporations that are not subject to Federal banking supervision and the potential adverse effects that might result from such affiliations, such as the impairment of the Edge's ability to act as an impartial arbiter of credit. The Board requested comment on the effect of the proposal on existing Edge Corporations, especially those owned by foreign banks and whether any exemptions from the restrictions are appropriate.

It is not expected that the proposal would have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small businesses, because it applies only to organizations involved in international banking. (CONT)

The revisions incorporate and supersede the proposals of March 1984 concerning advertising of split-rate deposits and IRA/Keogh (HR 10) Plan accounts. The proposal is not expected to have a significant adverse effect on small banks.

The proposed limits are designed to ensure that conduct of the activity does not result in unsafe or unsound practices, unfair competition, conflicts of interest or other adverse effects.

The Board requested public comment on a number of specific items, including whether real estate investment activities may be deemed to be closely related to banking and a proper incident thereto for purposes of Section 4(c)(8) of the Bank Holding Company Act; whether the proposed limits on the size, scope, and manner in which the activity would be conducted are appropriate; whether nonbank companies owned by holding company banks should be prohibited from conducting these activities; and whether the Board should establish special capital requirements for bank holding companies that control banks directly engaged in these activities.

Abstract: In November 1987, the Board requested comment on whether, in evaluating proposals submitted under section 3 of the Bank Holding Company Act, the Board should consider the impact of real estate activities of the bank to be acquired by the bank holding company on the financial condition of the bank and bank holding company, and, where appropriate, should prohibit banks and savings banks that are acquired by bank holding companies from directly engaging in real estate investment and development activities (52 FR 42301, November 4, 1987).

The Board also requested comment on whether member banks that are not in a bank holding company should be made subject to the interaffiliate lending restrictions of section 23A of the Federal Reserve Act in their dealings with real estate investment and development subsidiaries of the bank.

Finally, the Board requested comment on whether the Board should impose special capital requirements on real estate subsidiaries of banks in a bank holding company, under the Board's authority in the International Lending Supervision Act. These three proposals supplement the Board's earlier (CONT)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: request for comment in December 1986 regarding whether the Board should permit bank holding companies to engage in real estate investment activities.

This proposal is not expected to have a significant economic impact on small companies because the Board believes that very few small banks are currently engaged in real estate investment and development activities, and bank holding companies are not generally permitted to engage in these activities.

In light of pending legislative proposals in this area, the Board does not intend to take action at the present time.

Abstract: In September 1987, the Board requested public comment on whether the Board should authorize bank holding companies to acquire thrift institutions as a general matter under section 4(c)(8) of the Bank Holding Company Act (52 FR 36041, September 25, 1987). The Board currently permits bank holding companies to acquire thrift institutions only if the thrift is failing or has failed, and the acquisition is likely to result in revitalization of the thrift.

The Board has requested comment on whether changes in the economic and regulatory environment, in particular, the expansion of the powers of thrifts and the growth in state initiatives authorizing interstate banking, justify revisions of the Board's policy and the authorization of thrift acquisitions by bank holding companies. The Board also requested comment on what, if any, conditions the Board should impose on bank holding companies seeking to acquire thrifts.

The Board's proposal, if adopted, is not expected to impose a substantial economic burden on small bank holding companies because this action, if taken, would permit all bank (CONT)

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1843

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 225

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In June 1988, the Board proposed for comment amendments to Regulation Y to implement the limitations on grandfathered nonbank banks and industrial banks set forth in the Competitive Equality Banking Act of 1987 (CEBA) (53 FR 21462, June 1, 1988). The limitations in CEBA on nonbank banks include restrictions on new activities, joint-marketing with affiliates, annual growth, and overdrafts. Only the overdraft restriction applies to industrial banks.

The overdraft restriction requires nonbank banks and industrial banks to keep records of their affiliates' transactions in order to measure overdrafts. Because the overdraft restriction is required by CEBA, small entities cannot be exempted from this recordkeeping requirement.

An informal hearing on the public comments was held on July 29, 1988. Further Board action is expected within the next six months.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1604, as amended, Truth in Lending Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 226

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In December 1987, the Board published a proposal to amend Regulation Z to require additional disclosures for home equity lines of credit (52 FR 48702, December 24, 1987).

The disclosures would apply to home equity transactions secured by a consumer's principal dwelling and would be provided much earlier in the credit-granting process. Most of the public comments supported additional disclosure requirements but raised substantive questions about several aspects of the proposal.

In response to the comments, a revised draft was developed and circulated to those who commented on the December proposal. The revised draft is similar to the December proposal in requiring creditors to give more information about the terms and conditions of a home equity plan. In the case of variable rate plans, more information about the variable rate feature as well as an historical table showing the effects of index changes on interest rates over a fifteen-year period also would be provided.

Creditors also would have to give consumers a brochure that describes home equity loans.

If the Board adopts the revised proposal, small institutions engaged in home equity lending could incur additional expenses, including costs to revise and reprint disclosure forms and to acquire and distribute the home equity brochures.

Before adopting any final amendments to its rule, the Board would consider appropriate steps to minimize the burdens and costs of compliance. Although the revised proposal is ready for final action, the Board is delaying action because of legislation pending in Congress that would impose additional disclosure requirements and substantive restrictions on home equity loans.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In June 1988, the Board issued for comment a proposed amendment to Regulation CC that would prohibit banks from issuing teller's checks unless a depository bank located in the same check processing region as the issuing bank would normally receive credit for the check as early as credit for a check drawn on the issuing bank (53 FR 24093, June 27, 1988). The purpose of the amendment is to address the problems connected with certain delayed disbursement practices.

The rule will affect all banks regardless of size. It is not expected that the proposal will impose significant costs on small banks other than the costs of changing paying banks and purchasing new check stock for those banks that do not currently meet the equivalent availability standards.

The Board will review the public comments and take further action within the next three months.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 221 et seq

CFR Citation: None

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In December 1986, the Board requested comment on several proposals that would refine its policy statement on payment system risk (51 FR 45042, December 16, 1986). The proposals included modifying automated clearing house transactions to reduce risks (R-0591) and various proposals to charge a fee for daylight overdrafts as a way of reducing risks associated with them (R-0592). It is not expected that these actions will have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, because small entities do not usually participate in large-dollar wire transfer systems. In December 1987, following review of public comments, the Board approved changes in the automated clearing house mechanism to reduce risk (52 FR 49086, December 29, 1987). Action on pricing of daylight overdrafts (Docket No. R-0592) is expected in the Fall of 1988.

Further, the Board will be conducting a zero-based review of its risk reduction policy during 1988.

Section 565 amends the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act to bring within its coverage mortgage banking subsidiaries of bank holding companies and savings and loan holding companies, as well as savings and loan service corporations. The regulatory amendments implement this expansion in coverage and clarify and simplify the regulation where necessary.

Following review of public comments, the Board, in August, adopted the amendments with minor revisions (53 FR 31683, August 19, 1988). It is not anticipated that the amendments will have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small institutions.

The regulation would be amended to raise the exemption from various record-keeping requirements in Regulation H for securities transactions, conducted by banks, from 200 to 1,000 transactions per year for customers over the prior three-calendar-year period, exclusive of transactions in U.S. Government and Federal agency obligations. Abstract: In January 1986, the Board proposed to amend its Capital Adequacy Guidelines by adding a risk-based capital measure to supplement existing ratios of primary and total capital to total assets. Based in part on comments received in response to that earlier proposal the Board, in conjunction with the other Federal bank regulatory agencies and the central bank governors of the Group of Ten countries, published a revised capital proposal in December 1987, which would establish minimum risk-based capital standards applicable to commercial banking organizations in twelve major industrial countries.

In January 1988, the Board requested public comment on this revised proposal and, in particular, on how it should be applied to member banks of the Federal Reserve System and to bank holding companies.

The proposed risk-based capital framework consists of a revised definition of capital, a system for assigning assets and off-balance sheet items to risk categories, and a schedule for establishing minimum risk-based capital ratios (7.25 percent by year-end 1990, and 8.0 percent by year-end 1992). The (CONT)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: proposal also provides for transitional arrangements and a phase-in period to facilitate adoption and implementation of the measure.

This proposal has been designed to take account of those practices which have been engaged in primarily by larger banking organizations. Moreover, the major parts of the proposal have been structured to apply generally only to bank holding companies with assets of $150 million or more. Consequently, the proposal is not likely to have a significant economic impact on smaller banking organizations.

On August 3, 1988, the Board approved in principle revisions to the guidelines, based in part on the comments received on the initial proposal, as well as on additional discussions with the other central bank authorities. In connection with the above determinations, the Board has decided to study further the possible effect of any voting rights offered with a security on the percentage caps assigned to certain classes of securities within the risk-based capital framework.

Abstract: In December 1987, the Board proposed for public comment a new rule, Regulation CC, to implement the Expedited Funds Availability Act (52 FR 47112, December 11, 1987). The proposal set out the requirements that banks and other depository institutions make funds deposited into accounts available according to specified time schedules and that institutions disclose their funds availability policies to their customers. The proposed regulation also establishes rules to speed the return of unpaid checks. The Board also proposed to amend its existing Regulation J, which governs the collection of checks by Federal Reserve Banks, to conform to the new regulation. The proposed Regulation CC and the amendments to Regulation J would apply to all depository institutions, regardless of size, except that small institutions that do not hold transaction accounts would be exempt from the availability, disclosure, and payment of interest requirements.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Federal Trade Commission.

ACTION: Semiannual regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: The following agenda of Commission proceedings is published in accordance with section 22(d)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. 57b-3(d)(1), and section 610(c) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 610(c). Each projected event reflects the FTC staff's assessment of events that it expects will occur in the listed proceedings during the coming year. No Commission determination on the need for or the substance of a trade regulation rule or any other procedural option should be inferred from the projected events included in this agenda.

Several agenda items concern proceedings that may affect a substantial number of small businesses as that term is used in the Regulatory Flexibility Act. Whether any such proceeding will result in a rule which is likely to have a significant economic impact on such entities depends upon final Commission determinations on the need for and the substance of a trade regulation rule.

Except for notice of completed actions, the information in this agenda represents the judgment of Commission staff, based upon information now available. These views should not be regarded as a final staff position, nor should they be attributed to the Commission itself. The Commission will address the issues presented on the rulemaking record in the final consideration of each proceeding.

Agenda items include the projected timing of certain future actions. In most instances the dates of future events are listed by month, not a specific day. Further details may be obtained from the agency contact responsible for a particular proceeding. Discovery of new information, change of circumstances, or changes in the law may alter the information set forth in this agenda.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Further details may be obtained from the agency contact responsible for a particular proceeding.

claims made concerning shipping date or, in the absence of any specifically stated date, to ship the ordered merchandise within thirty (30) days of receipt of an order. In the event of delays in shipment, the rule establishes notification procedures whereby buyers have the option either to agree to the delay or to cancel the order and receive a prompt refund. The Commission's rule is designed to address a number of significant consumer problems described on the record of the rulemaking proceeding, including failure to deliver ordered merchandise, unexplained delays in delivery, failure to make prompt (or any) refunds upon cancellation of an order, and inability to obtain responses to inquiries about pending orders. The rule enables consumers to obtain ordered merchandise within a reasonable time period or, if delays occur, to cancel the order and obtain a prompt refund, so that losses due to undelivered merchandise, delays, and inadequate or nonexistent refunds can be avoided. CFR Citation: 16 CFR 703

Abstract: The Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act, enacted on January 4, 1975, requires that the Federal Trade Commission promulgate a rule prescribing the minimum requirements for any informal dispute settlement procedure which is incorporated into the terms of a written warranty subject to the Act. Because warrantors are not required to incorporate such procedures into warranties, the rule applies only to warrantors who choose to do so. The present rule sets forth detailed procedural, recordkeeping, and reporting requirements for dispute settlement mechanisms designed to insure their fairness. To assess whether any changes are needed, the Commission conducted a regulatory negotiation process in which an advisory committee was charged to recommend to the Commission revisions to the rule that would facilitate the Congressional (cont)

The committee met for the last time on June 17, 1987, and failed to reach a consensus on rule revisions. The Commission and its staff will continue to monitor the impact of the current informal dispute settlement procedures rule. Legal Authority: 15 USC 45; 15 USC 46(g); 15 USC 57(a)

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 453

Abstract: The funeral industry practices rule, which became effective on April 30, 1984, seeks to increase consumer access to accurate information about prices and legal requirements prior to and at the time of purchase of funeral goods and services. The Rule: (1) requires funeral directors to provide consumers with itemized pre-sale disclosures; (2) prohibits misrepresentation of legal and cemetery requirements and the preservative or protective value of embalming, caskets, and vaults; (3) prohibits funeral directors from requiring a casket for cremations, or any other tie-in arrangements; (4) prohibits funeral directors from charging for goods and services not specifically ordered, such as embalming, unless required by law; and (5) requires funeral directors to give, on request, price information over the telephone. The Rule provides that no later than four years after its effective date, the Commission will begin a rulemaking to determine whether the Rule should be amended or terminated. The Commission has issued the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking and scheduled the other stages of that proceeding.

3801. AMENDMENT TO TRADE REGULATION RULE CONCERNING PRESERVATION OF CONSUMERS CLAIMS AND DEFENSES ("HOLDER-IN-DUE COURSE RULE")

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 433

Abstract: The objective of the proposed amendment is to ensure that a purchaser's duty to pay is not separated from sellers' duty to perform when consumer sales are financed by third party creditors or purchase money lenders. The original rule requires sellers to ensure that credit contracts used in consumer installment sales and purchase money loans contain a provision that makes any holder of the contract subject to all legal claims and defenses related to the sale transaction which the buyer may have against the seller. The proposed amendment would extend to creditors the obligation to ensure that credit contracts contain the required provision. Benefits from the proposed amendments may include improvement in the retail market due to increased scrutiny by creditors of the sellers with whom they do business and availability to consumers of additional claims and defenses against creditors. Some creditors may have increased costs associated with screening contracts and monitoring the reputations of retailers with whom they deal. Alternatives considered by the Commission include: rejection of the amendment; postponement of decision pending additional information on (cont)

Legal Authority: 15 USC 18a Clayton Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 801; 16 CFR 802; 16 CFR 803; 16 CFR 803, (Apendix)

Abstract: The Premerger Notification Rules and the Antitrust Improvements Act Notification and Report Form were adopted pursuant to Section 7A of the Clayton Act. Section 7A requires firms of a certain size contemplating mergers or acquisitions of a specified size to file notification with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and the Department of Justice (DOJ) and to wait a designated period before consummating the transaction. It also requires the FTC, with the concurrence of the Assistant Attorney General for Antitrust, to promulgate rules requiring that notification be in a form and contain information necessary to enable the FTC and DOJ to determine whether the proposed acquisition may, if consummated, violate the antitrust laws. These rules are continually reviewed in order to improve the program's effectiveness and reduce the paperwork burden on the business community. In November 1988, the Commission may propose to amend these rules to exempt the acquisition of small percentages of an issuer's voting securities and two alternative amendments that would provide other special treatment for acquisitions of small percentages of voting securities. In addition, the Commission also published an advance notice of proposed rulemaking on whether to make the broadcast exemption permanent. Finally, the Commission has proposed to reduce the recordkeeping requirements of the rule from three years to one year in keeping with the goals of the Paperwork Reduction Act, and requested public comment on other possible areas where amendments to

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 456, (Revision)

Abstract: In January, 1985, The Commission Published an NPRM seeking public comment on a proposed trade regulation rule that would have the effect of superseding certain state-imposed restrictions on the forms of practice and other business aspects of the delivery of eye care to consumers. The hearings have been completed and the reports required by the Commission's rules have been submitted. On February 10, 1988, the Commission voted to promulgate a trade regulation rule that would prohibit certain state restrictions on optometrists' commercial practices. The rule would remove four state restrictions, including those that ban optometrists from having offices in shopping centers. The Commission also voted to continue requiring eye doctors to give consumers their eyeglass prescriptions automatically. The recommended rule would also prohibit the following state restrictions: (1) limitations on the number of branch offices that optometrists may own or operate; (2) prohibitions on the practice of optometry in commercial locations, such as shopping malls; (3) prohibitions on employer-employee or other

Legal Authority: 15 USC 41 et seq Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 424

Abstract: The Commission's Rule on Retail Food Store Advertising and Marketing Practices states that it is a violation of Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act for grocery stores to advertise products at a particular price unless such products are in stock and conspicuously and readily available for sale at the advertised price during the effective period of the advertisement. If a store runs out of advertised products, it is in violation of the rule even if the store noted the limitations on availability in its advertisement and even if the store provides rainchecks or substitute items. The rule is intended to benefit consumers by ensuring that advertised items are available, that advertising-induced purchasing trips are not fruitless, and that store prices accurately reflect the prices appearing in the ads. The rule may cause costs to

The staff concluded from a careful review of the rule's effects that the costs the rule imposes on consumers in the form of higher grocery prices significantly exceeds its benefits. On April 21, 1988, the Commission decided to modify the rule so that a store could comply by clearly and adequately disclosing in its advertisements that there are limitations on availability, or by offering rainchecks or substitute items if supplies run out. The Commission expects to publish a final rule as amended with a statement of basis and purpose before the end of 1988.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6294 National Energy Conservation Policy Act; PL 94-163 Energy Policy and Conservation Act, Sec 324, 1975

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 305

Abstract: The Energy Policy and Conservation Act (EPCA) required the Commission to consider labeling rules for the disclosure of energy information, based on standard test procedures prescribed by the Department of Energy, for at least 13 categories of major household appliances. The Commission adopted a labeling rule for seven appliance categories: (1) refrigerators and refrigerator-freezers; (2) freezers; (3) dishwashers; (4) clothes washers; (5) water heaters; (6) room air conditioners; and (7) furnaces. The Commission exempted five other categories of appliances. In 1987, the Commission amended the rule to include central air conditioners and heat pumps and to include two new types of furnace under the rule's coverage. The provisions took effect on June 7, 1988. Since the Commission's rule implements the requirements of EPCA, most of the costs imposed on industry members may not be attributable to the rule. The rule applies mainly to manufacturers of household appliances but does impose some burdens on distributors and retailers. Some of those entities may be small businesses under section 610 of the

Abstract: In 1979, the Second Circuit Court of Appeals set aside the rule as originally issued by the Commission, citing problems with some of the remedies that the rule provided to purchasers of proprietary vocational training. Late in 1987, the Staff forwarded recommendations as to how the Commission should respond to the Court's decision. Alternatives include terminating the rule or issuing a revised rule. Alternatives to rulemaking include case-by-case enforcement, and FTC intervention before other state and federal agencies having jurisdiction over vocational schools to prevent deceptive practices. After an extensive review of the proceeding, the Commission concluded that the rule should be withdrawn and the proceeding ended due to the age of the record and the fact that the Department of Education had informally proposed

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 300, (Wool); 16 CFR 301, (Fur); 16 CFR 303, (Textile)

of wool, recycled wool, and non-wool fibers contained in the product and the name of the manufacturer or other distributor. The Textile Fiber Products Identification Act requires each household textile product to bear a label showing the percentage of each fiber contained in the product, using the appropriate generic name for the fiber, and the name of the manufacturer or distributor. Advertisements for textile products must also show the required information if any mention of fiber content is made. Both acts require disclosure of country of origin. The Fur Products Labeling Act requires that all furs and fur products be labeled, invoiced, and advertised to show the true name of the animal that produced the fur, whether the fur is used, dyed, or imported, and the name of the manufacturer or distributor. Abstract: The Fair Packaging and Labeling Act, 15 USC 1453-1455, was passed in 1968 to eliminate consumer confusion and deception and to enable consumers to obtain accurate information as to the quantity of package contents and to facilitate value comparisons. The FTC has enforcement responsibility over package disclosures placed on "consumer commodities" as defined in the FPLA. The Commission has reviewed its rules implementing the FPLA in accordance with the Regulatory Flexibility Act. At the end of that review, the Commission concluded that the record contained insufficient evidence that the FPLA rules had had a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to OMB Bulletin No. 88-15, issued under section 6(b) of E.O. 12291 to implement the provisions of section 5 of the Executive Order concerning Regulatory Agendas, the Commission is publishing an agenda of (1) current and projected rulemakings, and (2) existing regulations being reviewed to determine whether to propose modifications through rulemaking. Listed below are the regulatory actions to be developed or reviewed during the next 12 months. Following each rule identified is a brief description of the rule including its purpose and legal basis.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: A contact person is identified for each of the rules listed below.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A list of proceedings appears below containing information about subject areas in which the Commission is currently conducting rulemaking proceedings or may institute such proceedings in the near future. It also contains information about existing regulations being reviewed to determine whether to propose modifications through rulemaking.

The agenda also identifies regulations likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of "small entities." Accordingly, this information will satisfy the requirements of section 602 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 602.

Finally, this agenda will comprise part of a Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations compiled by the Office of Management and Budget which is to be published in a single issue of the Federal Register in October 1988. The purpose of the Unified Agenda is to provide the public with more comprehensive documentation of the Federal government's current regulatory plans, and to provide a systematic means of monitoring regulatory activity in each agency.

RAIL GENERAL EXEMPTION AUTHORITY - MISCELLANEOUS MANUFACTURED COMMODITIES, EX PARTE NO. 346 (SUB-NO. 24)*Legal Authority: 49 USC 10505CFR Citation: 49 CFR 1039Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: 49 USC 10505 requires that the Commission exempt from regulation the movement by rail of traffic for which it finds continued regulation no longer necessary to serve the Nation's transportation policy objectives and to protect shippers from abuse of market power by the railroads. In examining the transportation characteristics and markets of various commodities moving by rail, there appear to be many products for which sufficient competition exists among transportation alternatives so that regulation may no longer be necessary. Exemption of such commodities should provide increased rate and service flexibility for railroads to meet shippers' needs and to compete more effectively for the subject traffic. Anticipated benefits include lower rates and improved service, at a possible "cost" of increased price instability and competition to alternative transport firms.

Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: National Credit Union Administration ("NCUA").

ACTION: Semiannual agenda of regulations.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to its ongoing policy of reviewing regulations, NCUA is publishing a list of current and projected rulemaking, reviews of existing regulations, and completed actions as of June 30, 1988. NCUA will also include this agenda in the "Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations."

DATE: This information is current as of June 30, 1988.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For each regulation listed, the person(s) named in the listing, at the above address.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The purpose of this agenda is to enable credit unions and the public to follow regulatory development and review at NCUA and to enable interested parties to more effectively participate in that process. The agenda is divided into three parts: (1) Actions completed since the last agenda; (2) actions proposed but not completed; and (3) actions planned but not yet proposed to the NCUA Board. Interpretive Rulings and Policy

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION (NRC)

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

10 CFR Ch. I

Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

ACTION: Semiannual publication of NRC regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) is publishing its semiannual Regulatory Agenda in accordance with Pub. L. 96-354, "the Regulatory Flexibility Act," and Executive Order 12291, "Federal Regulations." The agenda is a compilation of all rules on which the NRC has recently completed action or has proposed or is considering action. This issuance updates any action occurring on rules since publication of the last semiannual agenda on April 25, 1988 (53 FR 14692).

ADDRESSES: Comments on any rule in the agenda may be sent to the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Branch. Comments may also be hand delivered between 7:30 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. Comments received on rules for which the comment period has closed will be considered if it is practical to do so, but assurance of consideration cannot be given except as to comments received on or before the closure dates specified in the agenda.

The agenda and any comments received on any rule listed in the agenda are available for public inspection and copying at a cost of ten cents per page at the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Public Document Room, 2120 L Street, NW., Washington, DC 20555. Single copies of the NRC quarterly agenda can be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Post Office Box 37082, Washington, DC 20013-7082. Customers may call (202) 275-2060 or (202) 275-2171.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information concerning NRC rulemaking procedures or the status of any rule listed in this agenda, contact Juanita Beeson, Chief, Rules Review and Editorial Section, Regulatory Publications Branch, Division of Freedom of Information and Publications Services, Office of Administration and Resources Management, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555, Telephone (301) 492-8926. Persons outside the Washington, DC, metropolitan area may call toll-free: (800) 368-5642. For further information on the substantive content of any rule listed in the agenda, contact the individual listed under the heading "Agency Contact" for that rule.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Although publication of the agenda is only required semiannually in April and October, the NRC has chosen to update and publish its agenda each quarter. However, the information contained in this semiannual publication is updated to reflect any action which has occurred on rules since publication of the last NRC semiannual agenda on April 25, 1988 (53 FR 14692).

Within each group, the rules are ordered from the lowest to the highest part within Title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations (Title 10) and when more than one rule appears under the same part, the rules are arranged within that part according to the date of most recent publication. If a rule contains changes to more than one Title 10 part, the rule is listed under the lowest affected part.

The information in this agenda has been updated through August 24, 1988. The date under the heading, "Timetable," for the next scheduled action is the date the rule is scheduled to be published in the Federal Register. The date is considered tentative and is not binding on the Commission or its staff. This regulatory agenda is intended to provide the public early notice and opportunity to participate in the NRC rulemaking process. However, the NRC may consider or act on any rulemaking even though it is not included in the regulatory agenda.

Rulemakings Approved by the Executive Director for Operations (EDO)

The Executive Director for Operations (EDO) initiated a procedure for the review of the regulations being prepared by staff offices that report to him to ensure that staff resources were being allocated to achieve most effectively NRC's regulatory priorities. This procedure requires EDO approval before staff resources may be expended on the development of any new rulemaking. Furthermore, all existing rules must receive EDO approval prior to the commitment of additional resources.

Rules that have received EDO approval to date are identified by the symbol (+) at the beginning of the title. As additional rules receive EDO approval, they will be identified in subsequent editions of this agenda.

The NRC agenda lists rulemaking actions. Of these, no rulemaking items are considered to be priority or major as defined in section 1(b) of Executive Order 12291.

Seven rules potentially will have a "significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities" as defined in the Regulatory Flexibility Act. Dated at Bethesda, Maryland, this 25th day of August 1988.

For the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.
John D. Philips,
Acting Director, Division of Freedom of Information and Publications Services, Office of Administration and Resources Management.

Prerule Stage

3861. RADIOACTIVE WASTE BELOW REGULATORY CONCERN; GENERIC RULEMAKING*Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2; 10 CFR 20Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking sought comments on a proposal to amend NRC regulations to address disposal of radioactive wastes that contain sufficiently low quantities of radionuclides that their disposal does not need to be regulated as radioactive.

The NRC has already published a policy statement providing guidance for filing petitions for rulemaking to exempt individual waste streams (August 29, 1986; 51 FR 30839). It is believed that generic rulemaking could provide a more efficient and effective means of dealing with disposal of wastes below regulatory concern. Generic rulemaking would supplement the policy statement which was a response to Section 10 of the Low-Level Radioactive that Policy Amendment Act of 1985 (Pub. L. 99-240). The public will be asked to comment on 14 questions. The ANPRM requests public comment on several alternative approaches that the NRC could take. The evaluation of public comment together with the results from a proposed research contract will help to determine whether and how NRC should proceed on the matter.

3862. TRANSPORTATION REGULATIONS: COMPATIBILITY WITH THE INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC ENERGY AGENCY (IAEA)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2073; 42 USC 2093; 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2232; 42 USC 2233; 42 USC 2273; 42 USC 5842

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 71

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule, would in conjunction with a corresponding rule change by the U.S. Department of Transportation, make the United States Federal regulations for the safe transportation of radioactive material consistent with those of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA). The IAEA regulations can be found in IAEA Safety Series No. 6 "Regulations for the Safe Transport of Radioactive Material," 1985 Edition.

Consistency in transportation regulations throughout the world facilitates the free movement of radioactive materials between countries for medical, research, industrial, and nuclear fuel cycle purposes. Consistency of transportation regulations throughout the world also contributes to safety by concentrating the efforts of the world's experts on a single set of safety standards and guidance (those of the IAEA) from which individual countries can develop their domestic regulations. Perhaps as important, the accident experience of every country that bases its domestic regulations on those of the IAEA can be applied by every other country with consistent regulations to improve its safety program. The action will be handled as(cont)

These changes should result in a minimal increase in costs to affected licensees. Proposed changes to 10 CFR Part 71, based on current IAEA regulations, will be issued for public comments. The task will be scheduled over a 2-year interval ending January 1989 and will consume 2-3 staff years of effort, depending on the number and difficulty of conflicts to be resolved.

3863. NIGHT FIRING QUALIFICATIONS FOR SECURITY GUARDS AT NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 73

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would ensure that security force effectiveness at nuclear power plants is not dependent on the time of day. Security guards currently are required to perform night firing for familiarization only. There is no requirement for standards to measure their effectiveness. The proposed rule would change that by requiring that security guards at nuclear power plants qualify for night firing. The only alternative to rulemaking is to retain the current status.

Part 73, Appendix B, Part IV, will be amended to require reactor security guards to qualify annually in an NRC-approved night firing course with their assigned weapons. The proposed amendment will standardize training and qualification in night firing and prepare power reactor guard forces to more effectively respond in the event of an incident occurring in limited lighting conditions. The cost to industry should be relatively modest since licensees already operate daylight firing training and qualification facilities and programs. The costs to NRC will also be minimal because it will only

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 4

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend regulations concerning the enforcement of section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, in Federally assisted programs or activities to include a cross reference to the Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards (UFAS). This action is necessary because some facilities subject to the new construction or alteration requirements under section 504 are also subject to the Architectural Barriers Act. Therefore, reference to UFAS by all government agencies would diminish the possibility that recipients of Federal financial assistance would face conflicting enforcement standards.

Proposed Rule Stage

Abstract: The proposed rule would return the definition of "meeting" to its pre-1985 wording. The proposal is based on a study of comments submitted on an interim final rule published on May 21, 1985 (50 FR 20889), and the 1987 recommendations and report of the American Bar Association (ABA). Since the pre-1985 wording of the definition of meeting is fully adequate to permit the types of non-Sunshine Act discussions that the NRC believes would be useful, the proposal calls for the NRC to reinstate its pre-1985 definition of meeting, with the intention of conducting its non-Sunshine Act discussions in accordance with the guidelines recommended by the ABA.

3866. ● FITNESS FOR DUTY PROGRAM

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 26

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would create a new part to the Commission's regulations to require licensees authorized to operate nuclear power reactors to implement a fitness for duty program that will provide reasonable assurance that activities associated with nuclear power plant operations are carried out in an environment that is free from the effects of alcohol and drug abuse. The proposed rule provides for basic fitness for duty program elements such as the development of written policy and procedures, provisions for the training of supervisors and employees, standards for drug testing requirements for employee assistance programs, management actions, and appeal procedures.

The proposed rule represents the culmination of several years of effort in developing a fitness for duty program. On August 5, 1982, the Commission published a proposed rule (47 FR 27921). On December 1, 1987, the Commission was briefed on the experiences gained to date under the policy statement and on the status of implementation. The Commission then

The estimated incremental cost to industry is between $160.7 million and $243.3 million for the life of the current plants. Legal Authority: 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is considering whether to amend its regulations to require a comprehensive quality assurance program for medical licensees using byproduct materials. The purpose of this rulemaking action is to address each source of error that can lead to a misadministration. An advance notice of proposed rulemaking was published to request public comment on the extent to which, in addition to the basic quality assurance steps (being addressed by another rulemaking action, entitled "Basic Quality Assurance in Radiation Therapy"), a more comprehensive quality assurance requirement is needed and invites advice and recommendations on about 20 questions that will have to be addressed in the rulemaking process.

Abstract: The Commission is considering whether its training and experience criteria for individuals involved in medical use of byproduct material need to be revised. Rulemaking may be needed to reduce the change of misadministrations. The Commission may proceed with rulemaking, assist in the development of national voluntary training standards, or issue a policy statement recommending increased licensee attention to training. If the Commission proceeds with rulemaking, the NRC could publish criteria in its regulations or recognize medical specialty certificates. The NRC is not able to project costs or benefits at this time, and has requested cost/benefit comments in an Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking published May 25, 1988. The NRC staff will analyze the comments received before recommending whether regulatory action is necessary.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 5842; 42 USC 5846

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 40

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would provide a procedure to license a custodian for the post-closure, long-term control of uranium mill tailings sites required by the Uranium Mill Tailings Radiation Control Act of 1978 (UMTRCA). This amendment would establish a general license for custody and long-term care of uranium mill tailings by the Department of Energy, other designated Federal agencies, or States when applicable. The general license would be formulated so that it would become effective for a particular site when (1) NRC concurs in the DOE determination that the site has been properly constructed and (2) a surveillance and maintenance plan that meets the requirements of the general license has been received by NRC. No impact to the public or industry is expected as a result of this proposed action.

3870. ELIMINATION OF INCONSISTENCIES BETWEEN NRC REGULATIONS AND EPA STANDARDS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 10101

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 60

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982 (NWPA) directs NRC to promulgate criteria for the licensing of high-level waste (HLW) geologic repositories. Section 121(c) of this act states that these criteria must be consistent with standards to be developed by EPA for the disposal of HLW in deep geologic repositories. The proposed rule is needed in order to eliminate several inconsistencies with the EPA standards, thus fulfilling the statutory requirement.

Because the NWPA directs NRC to eliminate inconsistencies between Part 60 and the EPA standard, the alternatives to the proposed action are limited by statute.

The public, industry, and NRC will benefit from eliminating inconsistencies in Federal HLW regulations. NRC resources needed would be several staff years but will not include contract resources.

Because the Federal Court invalidated the EPA standards, action on this rule, which is in response to the EPA standards, is undetermined.

The construction and operation of these facilities are currently licensed under the NRC regulations for other production and utilization facilities (e.g., nuclear power plants) in 10 CFR Part 50. The advance notice of proposed rulemaking seeks comments on whether a separate set of regulations for uranium licensing is desirable.

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 15

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend the regulations concerning the procedures that the NRC uses to collect the debts which are owed to it. The proposed amendments are necessary to conform NRC regulations to the amended procedures contained in the Federal Claims Collection Standards issued by the General Accounting Office and the U.S. Department of Justice. The proposed action is intended to allow the NRC to further improve its collection of debts due to the United States. Because the proposed regulation is necessary to implement the Debt Collection Act of 1982, there is no suitable alternative to rulemaking for this action.

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has deferred further consideration of this proposal which would have revised the Commission's procedural rules governing the conduct of all adjudicatory proceedings, with the exception of export licensing proceedings. The proposed rule would comprehensively restate current practice, retitle the hearing office, and revise and reorganize the statement of the Commission's procedural rules to reflect current practice. The changes in this proposed rule would enable the Commission to render decisions in a more timely fashion and reduce the burden and expense to the parties participating in the proceedings.

This amendment informs the public of three exceptions to the right to withdraw, pursuant to 10 CFR 2.790(c) of the NRC's regulations, information submitted in a rulemaking proceeding that subsequently forms the basis for the final rule, information which has been made available to an advisory committee or was received at an advisory committee meeting, and information that is subject to a pending Freedom of Information Act request.

This level of clearance corresponds to the "L" clearances used by NRC and DOE that do not require renewal. Because of this equivalence, the renewal requirement for the "R" level licensee clearance is deemed unnecessary. This rulemaking would delete that requirement from Part 11. ### 3877. ● NOTIFICATION OF INCIDENTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 20

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend regulations concerning the notification of incidents involving byproduct, source, or special nuclear material possessed by a licensee. The proposed rule would clarify licensee reporting requirements for events involving byproduct, source, or special nuclear material that result in the loss of operation or damage to property. The proposed rule would also define the term "immediate" in the context of time. The proposed action is necessary because the NRC is not being notified of all incidents that occur involving byproduct, source, or special nuclear material possessed by the licensee. The proposed rule is intended to clarify that the notification requirements apply to all licensees subject to the standards for protection against radiation. Because the proposed amendments are needed to clarify an existing regulation, no alternative to rulemaking is acceptable. The proposed amendments are not expected to have any economic impact on NRC or its licensees.

3878. ● LICENSEES AND RADIATION SAFETY REQUIREMENTS FOR LARGE IRRADIATORS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2073; 42 USC 2093; 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2232; 42 USC 2233; 42 USC 2273; 42 USC 5842

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 036

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is developing regulations to specify radiation safety requirements and license requirements for the use of licensed radioactive materials in large irradiators. Irradiators use gamma radiation to irradiate products to change their characteristics in some way. The requirements would apply to large panoramic irradiators (those in which the radioactive sources and the material being irradiated are in a room that is accessible to personnel while the source is shielded) and certain large self-contained irradiators in which the source always remains under water. The rule would not cover small self-contained irradiators, instrument calibrators, medical uses of sealed sources (such as teletherapy), or non-destructive testing (such as industrial radiography).

The alternative to a regulation is continuing to license irradiators on a case-by-case basis using license conditions. The formalization would make the NRC's requirements better understood and possibly speed the licensing of irradiators. Development of the rule will require 2 staff-years.

3879. SAFETY RELATED AND IMPORTANT TO SAFETY IN 10 CFR PART 50

Legal Authority: 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 5842; 42 USC 5846

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission proposes to clarify its regulations on the use of the terms "important to safety" and "safety related" by adding definitions of these two terms and of "facility licensing documents" to 10 CFR Part 50 and by discussing how these definitions will be applied in NRC licensing reviews. Significant issues concerning the meaning of these terms as they are used in this part have arisen in Commission licensing proceedings. This proposed rule would define these terms and clarify the nature and extent of their effect on quality assurance requirements, thereby resolving these issues.

Rulemaking was chosen as the method of resolving this issue as a result of the Commission's directive to resolve the issue by rulemaking contained in the Shoreham licensing decision (CLI-84-9, 19 NRC 1323, June 5, 1984).

A position paper requesting approval of the staff proposed definitions and additional guidance from the Commission was signed by the EDO on May 29, 1986. In addition to rulemaking, the position paper discusses the alternative of the Commission(cont)

Since the proposed rule is only clarifying existing requirements, there is no impact on the public or the industry as a result of this rulemaking. It is anticipated that the NRC will expend 3.2 to 4.4 staff years in developing the final rule over a two year period. The manpower and time frame will depend upon guidance from the Commission regarding the extent to which 10 CFR usage of the terms is to be consistent, i.e., 10 CFR Part 50 only or all of 10 CFR. The timetable for this rule is on hold based on a decision by the Commission.

3880. ● MAINTENANCE OF NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 5842

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 050

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would provide functional requirements for the maintenance of nuclear power plants and allow industry initiatives to develop the details of maintenance programs to meet such requirements. The proposed rule would apply to all components, systems and structures of nuclear power plants and would be applicable to existing and future plants. The proposed rule would also require each licensee to develop, implement and maintain a maintenance program, and to formally commit to follow the program.

The scope of maintenance activities addressed in the rule will be within the framework of the Commission's Policy Statement on Maintenance of Nuclear Power Plants which was issued on March 23, 1988 (53 FR 9430).

It is estimated that about 3 staff-years of effort and $600,000 for contract services will be required to process the final rule.

3881. ● PRESSURIZED THERMAL SHOCK RULE

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2133; 42 USC 2134; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 050

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Pressurized Thermal Shock (PTS) Rule, published July 23, 1985, established a screening criterion, a limit on the degree of radiation embrittlement of PWR reactor vessel belline materials beyond which operation cannot continue without additional plant-specific analysis. The rule prescribes how to calculate the degree of embrittlement as a function of the copper and nickel contents of the controlling material and the neutron fluence. The proposed amendment revises the calculative procedure to be consistent with that given in Revision 2 of the Regulatory Guide 1.99. The guide provides an updated correlation of embrittlement data, which received CRGR approval for publication in final form on December 9, 1987.

The need to amend the PTS rule to be consistent with the guide became apparent when it was found that some medium-cooper, high-nickel materials embrittlement is worse now than predicted using the PTS rule. A number of PWR's will reach the screening criterion sooner than previously thought, and three plants will need to make plant-specific analyses (cont)

Additional Information: in the next 10 years. Therefore, a high priority is being given to this effort.

An unacceptable alternative to this amendment from the safety standpoint is to leave the present PTS rule in place. The staff's plant-by-plant analyses found four plants whose reference temperatures are 52 to 68 degrees F higher than previously thought, based on the present rule. This is beyond the uncertainties that were felt to exist when the proposed rule was published. Another unacceptable alternative that has been evaluated is to change the calculative procedure for the reference temperature and also change the screening criterion. Failure probabilities for the most critical accident scenarios in three plants, when recalculated using the new embrittlement estimates, were somewhat lower, but were quite dependent on the plant configuration and the scenario chosen. Furthermore, the screening criterion was based on a variety of considerations besides the probabilistic analysis. Reopening the question of where to set the screening criterion was not considered productive because of plant-to-plant differences.

3882. MODIFICATIONS TO THE NRC HEARING PROCESS (LIMITED INTERROGATORIES AND FACTUAL BASIS FOR CONTENTIONS)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2239

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would expedite conduct of NRC adjudicatory proceedings by requiring intervenors in formal NRC hearings to set forth the facts on which contentions are based and the sources or documents used to establish those facts and limit the number of interrogatories that a party may file in an NRC proceeding. The proposed rule would expedite the hearing process by, among other things, requiring intervenors to set forth at the outset the facts upon which their contention is based and the supporting documentation to give other parties early notice of intervenor's case so as to afford opportunity for early dismissal of contentions where there is no factual dispute. Expediting the hearing process should ultimately provide cost savings to all participants in the process. The content of this rule is being considered as part of the regulatory reform rulemaking package.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would revise existing regulations to establish specific licensing requirements for the storage of spent nuclear fuel and high-level radioactive waste in a monitored retrievable storage installation (MRS). This revision is intended to ensure that the Commission has in place the appropriate regulations to fulfill the requirements contained in the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982 concerning the licensing of facilities which could be part of the MRS program.

Paragraph (d) of Section 141 of the NWSA requires that any monitored retrievable storage installation pursuant to Section 141 be licensed by the Commission. The Commission could await further development of the MRS option before proposing its MRS rules. However, this approach could result in unnecessary delay in reviewing a license application if Congress authorizes construction of an MRS.

There is no appropriate alternative to rulemaking, the vehicle used by NRC to establish its licensing procedures.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 10101

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 02; 10 CFR 51; 10 CFR 60

Abstract: The proposed rule would provide procedures for performing an environmental review of High Level Waste (HLW) geologic repositories. Part 51 contains no provisions for the environmental review of a license application for a HLW repository. The Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982 established requirements for environmental reviews which are at variance with the environmental reviews that the NRC performs in licensing other types of nuclear facilities. This issue must be addressed in order to avoid delay in the U.S. HLW Program. The proposed rule would benefit the public, industry, and NRC by clarifying licensing procedures, thus avoiding case determinations and possible litigation during HLW geologic repository licensing. Minor revisions to Part 60 will be necessary to conform to the environmental requirements of the NWSA.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend the Commission's "immediate effectiveness" regulation that specifies when an initial adjudicatory decision authorizing the issuance or amendment of a license or permit becomes effective. The proposed rule would (1) remove the existing provision governing the effectiveness of initial decisions regarding power reactor construction permits and (2) revise the Commission's existing practice regarding "effectiveness reviews" for full-power operating licenses. The proposed rule also would delete language in the existing regulation emanating from Three Mile Island-related regulatory policies, for which action has now been completed.

The proposed rule would supersede two prior proposed rules entitled "Possible Amendments to 'Immediate Effectiveness' Rules," published May 22, 1980 (45 FR 43279), and "Commission Review Procedures for Power Reactor Construction Permits; Immediate Effectiveness Rule," published October 25, 1982 (47 FR 47260).

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) is considering amendments to its rules of practice which address the following aspects of the hearing process: admission of contentions, discovery against NRC staff, use of cross examination plans, timing of motions for summary disposition and limitations on matters and issues that may be included in proposed findings of fact or conclusions of law, or in an appellate brief submitted by a person who does not have the burden of proof or who has only a limited interest in the proceeding. These proposals were initially developed by the Regulatory Reform Task Force and published for public comment, together with a number of other proposals, as suggestions for procedural changes in the licensing of nuclear power plants. (49 FR 14698; April 12, 1984). The Commission has decided not to proceed with the April 1984 proposals, except to the extent that they were included in this proposed rule. CFR Citation: 10 CFR 20

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Radiation protection philosophy and technology have changed markedly since the present Part 20 was promulgated nearly thirty years ago. Since Part 20 contains the NRC standards for protection against radiation that are used by all licensees and affects exposures of workers and members of the public, it should be the most basic of the NRC regulations. However, because the present Part 20 has become outdated, most radiation protection actions occur through licensing actions independent of Part 20. A complete revision is necessary to provide better assurance of protection against radiation; establish a clear health protection basis for the limits; reflect current information on health risk, dosimetry, and radiation protection practices and experience; provide NRC with a health protection base from which it may consider other regulatory actions taken to protect public health; be consistent with recommendations of world authorities (ICRP); and apply these standards to all licensees in a consistent manner.

These were rejected as ignoring scientific advancements, being unresponsive to international and national guidance, and correcting only some of the recognized problems with the present Part 20.

Benefits would include updating the regulations which reflect contemporary scientific knowledge and radiation protection philosophy, implementing regulations that reflect the ICRP risk-based rationale, reducing lifetime doses to individuals receiving the highest exposures, implementing provisions for summation of doses from internal and external exposures, providing clearly identified dose limits for the public, providing an understandable health-risk base for protection, and placing constraints on collective dose evaluations at levels where risks are trifles.

Initial estimates of the cost of implementing the revision is about $33 million for all NRC and Agreement State licensees in the initial year and about $8 million in each subsequent year.

Abstract: The proposed rule would require about 30 fuel cycle and other radioactive materials licensees to submit an emergency plan that would, among other actions, require the notification of local authorities in case of an accident and that the licensee recommend protective actions for the public. The proposed rule is intended to further protect the public from accidental exposure to radiation. The affected licensees are those whose possession limits indicate the potential for an accident that could deliver a radiation dose offsite exceeding one rem effective dose equivalent or 5 rems to the thyroid or could cause a soluble uranium inhalation of 2 milligrams (a chemical toxicity hazard).

Currently, the proposed requirements are, for the most part, required by order. However, the Commission decided that a regulation was needed for the long term. The cost of the rule to licensees was estimated to be between $26,000 and $73,000 per year per licensee. The cost to NRC is estimated to be $4,000 per year per licensee. The NRC will expend about 2 staff-years of effort to promulgate the rule.

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend the present regulations to establish performance standards for industrial radiography exposure devices. Overexposures of radiographers (and occasionally the general public) are more than double that of other radiation workers and have been a concern to the NRC for some time. Approximately 25-35% of the radiography overexposures are associated with equipment malfunction. The issue of safety requirements for these devices is a primary concern since the devices use relatively high intensity, high energy gamma-ray emitting sources with the potential for serious overexposures. Although a consensus standard for radiographic exposure devices was published in 1981 (American National Standard N432), it is not clear that all manufacturers are adopting the standard.

The alternatives considered were to take no action at this time, amend the regulations to require performance standards for radiographic devices plus a requirement for radiographers to wear alarm dosimeters and simultaneously issue a regulatory guide endorsing the consensus standard, supplemented by such other performance standards deemed necessary, and incorporate (cont)

The proposed rule would require licensees to modify radiographic devices to meet the performance standards through design changes and quality control procedures. Costs of incorporating the proposed changes are estimated to be a one-time cost of $1,625 per licensee to purchase alarm dosimeters and $850 annually for replacement of devices and alarm dosimeters, annual calibration of dosimeters, and annual maintenance costs. Determination of the benefits to be derived from the proposed rule are

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is proposing to amend its regulations concerning the medical use of byproduct material. The proposed amendments would require its medical licensees to implement certain quality assurance steps that would reduce the chance of therapy misadministrations. The proposed action is necessary to provide for improved patient safety and serve as a basis for enforcement action in case of a therapy misadministration. The proposed amendment, which is intended to reduce the potential for and severity of therapy misadministrations would primarily affect hospitals, clinics, and individual physicians.

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend regulations concerning acceptance criteria for emergency core cooling systems (ECCS) by allowing the use of realistic methods to demonstrate that an ECCS would protect the nuclear reactor core during a loss-of-coolant accident. This action is proposed because research has shown that calculations performed under current requirements greatly underestimate the ability of the ECCS to protect the core. This restricts the operation of some nuclear reactors unnecessarily and increases the costs of generating electricity. The proposed rule would allow use of the best information currently available to demonstrate that the ECCS would protect the reactor core during a loss-of-coolant accident.

Use of the realistic evaluation model may result in up to a 5 percent power upgrade for some plants. The present value of energy replacement cost savings resulting from a potential upgrade has been estimated to range between $5 and $127 million, depending on the location and age of a specific plant.

The proposed rule would apply to all applicants for and (cont)

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission proposes a limited amendment to its regulations to clarify a question of interpretation in regard to leakage testing of containments of light-water cooled nuclear power plants. This proposed amendment would explicitly permit the continued use of a statistical data analysis technique that the NRC has considered to be an acceptable method of calculating containment leakage rates. Rulemaking is the only acceptable alternative for resolving this issue because the regulations specify the methods the NRC finds acceptable for calculation leakage rates. Because the proposed rule would simply make another method of calculating leakage rates available to the industry, no economic impact will probably result from this action.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 10101

Abstract: The Commission instructed the staff to analyze the need to revise the definition of high-level radioactive waste (HLW) in Part 60 to conform with the definition in the Nuclear Waste Policy Act (NWPA). An ANPRM was published on February 27, 1987 (52 FR 5992), which recommended a revision based either wholly or partially on concentrations of radionuclides in the waste. After assessing the public comments on the ANPRM, and also taking into account recent information, the staff is now recommending against any revision of the definition of HLW. Instead, amendments to Part 61 are being recommended that would require geologic repository disposal of all above-Class C low-level radioactive waste (LLW) unless an alternative has been approved by the Commission. This would accomplish the objective of establishing suitable disposal requirements for radioactive waste with a minimal impact on cost burdens.

Alternatives are (1) revise the definition of HLW so that additional above-Class C LLW is reclassified as HLW; or (2) make no change in the system of waste classification or required waste disposal options. (cont)

Abstract: The proposed rule would implement the Equal Access to Justice Act (EAJA) by providing for the payment of fees and expenses to certain eligible individuals and businesses that prevail in agency adjudications when the agency's position is determined not to have been substantially justified. This proposed regulation is modeled after rules issued by the Administrative Conference of the United States (ACUS) and have been modified to conform to NRC's established rules of practice. The proposed rule would further the EAJA's intent to develop government-wide, "uniform" agency regulations and would describe NRC procedures and requirements for the filing and disposition of EAJA applications. A draft final rule was sent to the Commission in June 1982, but Commission action was suspended pending a decision by the Comptroller General on the availability of funds to pay awards to intervenor parties. This issue was also the subject of litigation in Business and Professional People for the Public Interest v. NRC, 793 F. 2d 1366 (D.C. Cir. 1986). This litigation is being evaluated to determine what if any changes may be necessary in the proposed rule. (cont)

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend Part 21 and sec. 50.55(e), both of which require the reporting of safety defects by licensees. In addition, Part 21 requires reporting by non-licensees. This proposed amendment was prompted by TMI Action Plan Task II, J.4, and NRC staff experience with Part 21 and section 50.55 (e) reporting. The main objectives of the rulemaking effort are: (1) elimination of duplicate evaluation and reporting of safety defects; (2) consistent threshold for safety defect reporting in Part 21 and section 50.55(e); (3) establishment of consistent and uniform content of reporting under Part 21 and section 50.55 (e) and (4) establishment of time limits within which a defect must be evaluated and reported.

Approximately 500 reports are submitted to the Commission annually under Part 21. Approximately 1500 reports are submitted to the Commission annually under section 50.55 (e). These reports identify both plant-specific and generic safety concerns for further NRC regulatory action. Under current rules, these reports have formed the basis for NRC issuance of numerous NRC information notices and bulletins. (cont)

Alternatives to this rulemaking approach which were considered, varied from establishment of a single rule for all reporting of safety defects and operating reactors events to maintaining status quo for defect reporting. All alternatives were rejected since they would not substantially improve the current safety defect reporting situation.

Current costs of reporting under Part 21 and section 50.55 (e) are estimated at $10.43 million annually for industry and 1.08 million annually for NRC evaluations. It is anticipated that the industry reporting burden should be reduced by $1.6 million; while NRC burden should remain the same. Additional industry burden, though minimal, is anticipated in the area of reissuing procedures for reporting and record keeping.

The Commission disapproved this proposed rule on 10/20/86 and provided direction to the staff to revise the proposed rulemaking.

Abstract: The proposed rule would update and revise the 1973 criteria for preoperational and periodic pressure testing for leakage of primary containment boundaries of water-cooled power reactors. Problems have developed in application and interpretation of the existing rule. These result from changes in testing technology, test criteria, and a relevant national standard that needs to be recognized.

The revision is urgently needed to resolve continuing conflicts between licensees and NRC inspectors over interpretations, current regulatory practice that is no longer being reflected accurately by the existing rule, and endorsement in the existing regulation of an obsolete national standard that was replaced in 1981.

The benefits anticipated include elimination of inconsistencies and obsolete requirements and the addition of greater usefulness and a higher confidence in the leak-tight integrity of containment system boundaries under post-loss-of-coolant accident conditions. The majority of the effort needed by NRC to issue the rule has already been expended. (cont)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2136

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule would clarify the Commission's regulations pertaining to boiling water reactors (BWR). The current regulations require that all boiling water reactors must have a standby liquid control system (SLCS) with a minimum flow capacity and boron content equivalent in control capacity to 86 gallons per minute (gpm) of 13 weight percent of sodium pentaborate solution. In January 1985, a generic letter was issued to all appropriate licensees that provided clarification of the phrase "equivalent in control capacity" contained in section 50.62 (c) (4). This letter provided the basis for the flow and weight percent of sodium pentaborate decahydrate requirements and described how equivalency could be achieved for smaller plants. The NRC staff considers the contents of the generic letter to be technically correct and desired that this position be established in the regulations.

This proposed rule would clarify a Commission regulation; thus no other procedure is appropriate. The technical proposals in the rule were analyzed for safety as part of the original rulemaking procedure, although they were not specifically mentioned. (cont)

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission proposes to amend its regulations to establish more clearly what emergency planning and preparedness requirements are needed for fuel loading and low-power operation of nuclear power plants, current rules provide for a finding prior to fuel loading and low-power on the licensee's plans and state of preparedness for dealing with accidents that could affect persons onsite. Current rules also provide that no finding regarding the planning or preparedness of offsite agencies for dealing with accidents that could affect persons offsite is required at this stage. The Commission is not proposing to change these aspects of the current rules. However, practice under the current rule has been to consider also, as part of review of licensees' plans, certain offsite elements of those plans that seem unnecessary for low-power operation in view of the low degree of risk posed to offsite persons by fuel loading and low-power operation (up to 5 percent of rated power). Abstract: The proposed rule provides a narrative explanation of the numerical values established in Table S-3, "Table of Uranium Fuel Cycle Environmental Data," that appears in the Commission's environmental protection regulations. The proposed rule describes the basis for the values contained in Table S-3, the significance of the uranium fuel cycle data in the table, and the conditions governing the use of the table. The proposed rule amends Section 51.52 to modify the enrichment value of U-235 and the maximum level of average fuel irradiation. The narrative explanation also addresses important fuel cycle impacts and the cumulative impacts of the nuclear fuel cycle for the whole nuclear power industry so that it may be possible to consider these impacts generically rather than repeatedly in individual licensing proceedings, thus reducing litigation time and costs for both NRC and applicants.

The proposed rule regarding revision of Section 51.51 and the addition of Appendix B was published for public review and comment on March 4, 1981 (46 FR 15154). The final rulemaking was deferred pending the outcome of a suit (Natural Resources

The proposed rule to provide a narrative explanation for Table S-3 has been revised to reflect new developments and the passage of time while the rulemaking was deferred. Final action on the Table S-3 rule was held in abeyance until new values for radon-222 and technetium-99 could be added to the table and covered in the narrative explanation. The rule is being reissued as a proposed rule because the scope has been extended to include radiation values for radon-222 and technetium-99 and the narrative explanation has been extensively revised from that published on March 4, 1981 (46 FR 15154).

The staff's estimate is that the completion of a final Table S-3 rule covering the new values for radon-222 and technetium-99 and the revised narrative explanation will be completed in 1989.

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is considering adding a new part to its regulations to improve the reactor licensing process. The proposed rule would provide for the issuance of early site permits, standard design certifications, and combine construction permits and conditional operating licenses for nuclear power reactors. These procedural reforms are intended to improve the quality, effectiveness, and efficiency of nuclear power plant licensing without detracting from protection of the public health and safety or the public's ability to participate in the licensing process. They are designed to implement as much of the Commission's proposed "Nuclear Power Plant Standardization and Licensing Act of 1987" as is permissible under its existing statutory authority. The proposed legislation is based on an earlier proposal that was developed by the Commission's Regulatory Reform Task Force. If licensing reform legislation is ultimately enacted, the rules can be modified to implement that legislation fully.

Abstract: The final rule will revise the Extraordinary Nuclear Occurrence (ENO) criteria to eliminate the problems that were encountered in the Three Mile Island ENO determination. It is desirable to get revised criteria in place in the event they are needed.

There are no alternatives to this rulemaking since the current ENO criteria are already embodied in Subpart E of 10 CFR Part 140. The only way to modify these criteria, as this rule seeks to do is through rulemaking.

There is no safety impact on public health or safety. The ENO criteria provide legal waivers of defenses. Industry (insurers and utilities) claims that a reduction in the ENO criteria could cause increases in insurance premiums. The final rule would also be responsive to PRM-140-1.

It is estimated that approximately 1 staff year of NRC time will be required to process the final rule. No contract funding is anticipated.

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend its regulations to make several minor changes in the Facility Form nuclear liability insurance policy furnished as evidence of financial protection. The two nuclear insurance pools have submitted endorsements to the Facility Form policy that make available a single insurance policy to cover onsite worker claims. This new Master Worker Policy reflects different rating and underwriting treatment than is utilized in the Facility Form policy. The supplementary insurance provided by the new policy enhances protection to the public since payments under its provisions for routine claims by onsite nuclear workers will not reduce the financial protection for the public under the primary and secondary nuclear liability insurance policies provided as evidence of financial protection under the Price-Anderson Act.

Abstract: The Nuclear Waste Policy Act (NWPA) provides three years for the NRC to reach a decision on construction authorization for a high level waste repository. In order for the NRC to be able to make its decision within the allotted time, ready access to all pertinent records must be assured to all parties in the licensing proceeding. The DOE has committed to develop an electronic information management system to be used for the licensing proceeding. The NRC staff intends to use the process of negotiated rulemaking to develop a proposed rule that would revise the Commission's discovery procedure and motion practice in 10 CFR Part 2 for the high level waste licensing proceeding. This rule would require the DOE license application and all supporting records to be provided in a standardized electronic format. All parties to the licensing proceeding would be required to submit all relevant data to this system. In turn all parties would have access to the data base.

In addition, the staff has identified other areas in the regulations where minor changes are warranted. In response to these efforts, specific amendments to the regulations are being proposed. The proposed changes would (1) limit the use of the 100 rems per hour at 3 feet dose exemption to a reduction of no more than one physical protection category and not allow a drop below the lowest category, (2) add definitions for common terms not currently defined by frequent use, (3) delete action dates that no longer apply, (4) correct outdated terms and Limiting the use of the 100 rem per hour at 3 feet dose exemption to a reduction of no more than one physical protection category, and not allowing a drop below the lowest category, could affect two non-power reactor licensees. It is estimated that 0.4 staff-years of NRC effort over 2 years will be required for the rulemaking. This is a low priority rulemaking.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2167; 42 USC 2073

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule, which is being initiated in partial response to a petition filed by Edison Electric Institute and Utility Nuclear Waste Management Group (PRM-20-15, dated July 31, 1984), would amend NRC regulations to allow onsite incineration of waste oil at nuclear power plants subject to specified conditions. Currently, the only approved disposal method for low-level, radioactively contaminated waste oil from nuclear power plants involves absorption or solidification, transportation to, and burial at a licensed disposal site. There is a clear need to allow, for very low activity level wastes, the use of alternative disposal methods which are more cost effective from a radiological health and safety standpoint and which conserve the limited disposal capacity of low-level waste burial sites.

Increased savings to both the public and the industry could thereby be achieved without imposing additional risk to the public health and safety. There would be an estimated industry-wide economic savings of approximately $3million to $12 million per year if such a rule (cont)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 10153; 42 USC 10198

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 72; 10 CFR 73; 10 CFR 74; 10 CFR 170

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule is in response to the Nuclear Waste Policy Act (NWPA) section 218 (a) which states in part, that the Secretary of DOE shall establish a demonstration program, in cooperation with the private sector, for dry storage of spent nuclear fuel at civilian nuclear power reactor sites, with the objective of establishing one or more technologies that the Commission may, by rule, approve for use at sites of civilian nuclear power reactors. The NWPA also requires that the NRC establish procedures for the licensing of any technology approved by the Commission under section 218(a) for use at the site of any civilian nuclear power reactor.

The staff anticipates a significant increase in the demand for use of dry spent fuel storage casks starting in the early 1990s, thus processing of this proposed rule would be timely. NRC resource requirements are anticipated to be about two staff years.

Abstract: This rulemaking would establish NRC's sole authority for approving onsite disposal of low-level waste at all NRC licensed reactors and at Part 70 fuel cycle facilities. There is a need to amend section 150.15 to authorize one agency (NRC) to regulate all onsite disposal of low-level waste in order to provide a more comprehensive regulatory review of all onsite waste management activities and to avoid unnecessary duplication of effort. Uniform review by the NRC will provide for greater assurance that the radioactive material will not present a health hazard at a later date after the site is decommissioned.

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend the Commission's regulations dealing with ex parte communications and separation of adjudicatory and nonadjudicatory functions in formal adjudicatory proceedings by updating the agency's rules of practice and incorporating requirements imposed by the Government in the Sunshine Act. Changes are proposed in both the form and the substance of the existing rules to clarify their meaning and to aid agency adjudicatory officials in maintaining effective communication with NRC staff personnel and persons outside the agency while at the same time ensuring that proceedings will be conducted fairly and impartially. This proposed rule supersedes a prior proposed rule entitled, "Ex Parte Communications and Separation of Adjudicatory and Non Adjudicatory Functions," (3150-AA00) published March 7, 1979 (44 FR 12428).

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is amending its regulations to set forth technical and financial criteria for decommissioning licensed nuclear facilities. The amended regulations address decommissioning planning needs, timing, funding methods, and environmental review requirements. The intent of the amendments is to assure that decommissioning of all licensed facilities will be accomplished in a safe and timely manner and that adequate licensee funds will be available for this purpose. Abstract: The final rule will change the forms required to request an NRC personnel security clearance or material access authorization for NRC licensees and others when an Office of Personnel Management (OPM) background investigation is necessary.

The final amendments are necessary because as of September 16, 1988, OPM will accept only the Standard Form (SF) 86, "Questionnaire for Sensitive Positions" as the basis for their background investigations. The exception to the use of SF-86 held by NRC (for use of the NRC Form-1, "Personnel Security Questionnaire") is being discontinued. Therefore, there is no reasonable alternative to rulemaking. Abstract: The NRC is amending its regulations to require that light water cooled nuclear power plants be capable of withstanding a total loss of alternating current (AC) electrical power, called station blackout, for a specified duration and maintaining reactor core cooling during that period. This requirement is based on information developed under the Commission's study of Unresolved Safety Issue A-44, "Station Blackout." The amendment is intended to provide further assurance that a loss of both offsite power and onsite emergency AC power systems will not adversely affect the public health and safety.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 5842; 42 USC 5846

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The final rule will incorporate by reference the Winter 1984 Addenda, Summer 1985 Addenda, Winter 1985 Addenda, and 1986 Edition of Section III, Division 1, of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers Boiler and Pressure Vessel Code (ASME Code), and the Winter 1983 Addenda, Summer 1984 Addenda, Winter 1984 Addenda, Summer 1985 Addenda, Winter 1985 Addenda, and 1986 Edition of Section XI, Division 1 of the ASME Code. A limitation is placed on the use of paragraph IWB-3640 as contained in the Winter 1983 Addenda and Winter 1984 Addenda of Section XI, Division 1. This limitation requires that for certain types of welds, IWB-3640 be used as modified by the Winter 1985 Addenda. This amendment recognizes certain improvements made to Section XI in the area of class 2 piping examinations. The sections of the ASME Code being incorporated provide rules for the construction of light-water-cooled nuclear power plant components and specify requirements for inservice

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 20

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would have established residual radioactive contamination limits (including induced and other volumetric radioactivity as well as removable and fixed surface contamination) which must be met before structures and lands can be released for unrestricted use. Structures and lands with residual radioactive contamination below these limits would be eligible for release without regulatory restrictions from a radioactivity standpoint.

The issue in this proposed rule will be incorporated into a policy statement. The policy statement is scheduled to be released October 1988.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 35

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The final rule amends the regulations governing the medical use of byproduct material to specify the form that is to be used by NRC medical licensees to report diagnostic misadministrations. The rule is intended to inform licensees that the form contemplated in the revision to these regulations (see the Federal Register of October 16, 1986; 51 FR 36932) has been developed and is now available for use.

3931. ● CODES AND STANDARDS FOR NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS (ASME CODE, 1986/1987 ADDENDA)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would incorporate by reference the 1986 Addenda and 1987 Addenda to the 1986 Edition of Section III, Division 1, and Section XI, Division 1, of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers Boiler and Pressure Vessel Code (ASME

Code). The ASME Code provides rules for the construction of light-water-reactor nuclear power plant components in Section III, Division 1, and provides rules for the inservice inspection and inservice testing of those components in Section XI, Division 1.

The proposed rule would update the existing reference to the ASME Code and would thereby permit the use of improved methods for the construction, inservice inspection, and inservice testing of nuclear power plant components. Incorporating by reference the latest addenda of the ASME Code would save applicants/licensees and the NRC staff both time and effort by providing uniform detailed criteria against which the staff could review any single submission.

Regulatory Flexibility Agenda and Rules Scheduled for Review

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Publication of regulatory flexibility agenda and rules scheduled for review.

SUMMARY: The Securities and Exchange Commission is today publishing an agenda of its open and anticipated rulemaking actions, pursuant to Chapter Six of the Administrative Procedure Act and Office of Management and Budget Bulletin 88-15. The agenda is a general announcement to the public intended to provide advance notice of rulemaking actions which may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The Commission invites questions and public comment on individual agenda entries.

DATE: Public Comments are due by December 31, 1988.

ADDRESSES: Persons wishing to submit written views should file three copies with Jonathan G. Katz, Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 5th Street, NW., Room 6184, Stop 6-9, Washington, DC 20549. All submissions should refer to File No. S7-18-88, and will be available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Reference Room, Room 1026, at the same address.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: William J. Atkinson, Office of Economic Analysis, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 5th Street, NW., Room 9200, Stop 9-1, Washington, DC 20549 (202-272-7100). Additional names of persons to contact are identified with each entry.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Regulatory Flexibility Act ("RFA") (Pub. L. No. 96-354, 94 Stat. 1164 [September 19, 1980]) requires each federal agency during April and October of each year to publish in the Federal Register a regulatory flexibility agenda identifying rules which the agency expects to propose or adopt which are likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (the "significant impact criterion").<sup>1</sup>

The RFA also requires the Commission to publish a plan for the periodic review of all rules issued by the agency which have or will have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.<sup>2</sup> The Commission published such a plan in 1981.<sup>3</sup> The plan provides for the review of all rules in effect on January 1, 1981 within ten years of that date and for the review of all rules adopted thereafter within ten years of their adoption as final rules. The RFA further requires publication each year of a list of those rules which are to be reviewed during the succeeding twelve months.<sup>4</sup>

The Commission's continuing review of its rules, begun before the effective date of the statute (January 1, 1981), extends beyond the requirements of the RFA. Consequently, some rules listed in this part of the agenda may not be subject to RFA review requirements.

The Commission is identifying them here in order to inform the public of its intention to review them. The agenda also identifies the rulemaking actions which have been completed (or withdrawn) since the last RFA release was approved by the Commission on March 1, 1988.<sup>5</sup>

The statute specifically provides that the agenda does not preclude the Commission from considering or acting on any matter not included, nor is the Commission required to consider or act on any matter which is included.<sup>6</sup> Furthermore, the inclusion of a rule in the Commission's agenda reflects only the staff's preliminary judgment that the rule, if adopted or as it exists, may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.<sup>7</sup> This preliminary judgment may be changed upon further analysis. The Commission's entries to the October 1988 Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations are listed below. The Commission's agenda includes new entries as well as items carried over from the April 1988 publication. New entries are marked with a bullet. Copies of this preamble and a list of the entries (which includes next action dates and identifies a staff contact) are available from the Commission's Office of Public Affairs (Room 1015). The agenda also is available for inspection and copying in the Public Reference Room (Room 1026) (File S7-18-88), as noted above.

The Commission invites public comment on the individual entries in its regulatory agenda.

Dated: August 19, 1988.

By the Commission.
Jonathan G. Katz,
Secretary.

3935. EXEMPTION OF SALES OF CERTAIN INTERESTS AND PARTICIPATIONS ISSUED IN CONNECTION WITH H.R. 10 PLANS FROM SECTION 15(A)

Legal Authority: 15 USC 78c(a)(12); 15 USC 78o; 15 USC 78w; 15 USC 77c(a)(12); 15 USC 77s(a)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 240. 3a12-10; 17 CFR 230.180

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule would specify certain conditions under which persons engaged in the sale of interests and participation issued in connection with certain tax-qualified retirement plans ("H.R.10" or "Keogh" plans) would not be required to register as broker-dealers under Section 15(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. In 1981, the Commission adopted Rule 180 under the Securities Act of 1933 exempting from the registration requirements of that Act interests and participations issued in connection with H.R. 10 plans. The proposed rule provides a parallel exemption from broker-dealer registration for sales of such interests and participations in H.R. 10 plans. As an alternative the staff could consider granting no-action or exemptive requests on a case-by-case basis. However, such procedure would be inefficient and needlessly expensive for both the public and the Commission staff. In addition, the Commission is proposing to amend Rule 180 to clarify that, under paragraph (a)(3)(ii) of that Rule, the employer only needs to obtain investment advice prior to the investment of plan assets. This proposal codifies a previous staff position.

The purpose of the exemptions would be to place primary regulatory responsibility for certain smaller investment advisers with states that actively regulate advisers. The draft rule proposals, which include both an interstate and an intrastate exemption, would determine eligibility for the exemptions by reference to the size of the adviser's business; whether the adviser has custody of client funds or securities; and whether the adviser is registered as an adviser in the state or states in which it does business. Such registration currently is made on Form S-8 (17 CFR 239.16b). Abstract: In order to facilitate simultaneous multinational securities offerings among, initially, the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom, appropriate criteria are being sought to reconcile differences in disclosure standards, financial statement requirements and distribution systems. The Commission issued a concept release in February 1985 addressing numerous regulatory issues raised by multinational offerings. At that time, the Commission published for comment two conceptual approaches to facilitating such offerings--a "common prospectus" approach and a "reciprocal" approach. The Commission's staff is currently in the process of developing the reciprocal prospectus approach, which involves reciprocal recognition and use of home country disclosure documents. It is likely that initially the proposal will focus on debt offerings of certain issuers, limited rights offerings and exchange offers.

Investment Management Rules*3962. AMENDMENT TO RULE 180 -- EXEMPTION FROM REGISTRATION OF CERTAIN INTERESTS AND PARTICIPATIONS IN CERTAIN H.R. 10 PLANS*Legal Authority: 15 USC 77c(a)(2); 15 USC 77s(a)CFR Citation: 17 CFR 230.180Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Rule 180 provides an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act for interests and participations issued in connection with certain qualified H.R. 10 plans. In order for interests in funding media issued to plans established by financially inexperienced employers to qualify for the rule's exemption, the rule, as adopted, requires those employers to obtain financial advice from an independent expert prior to adopting the H.R. 10 plan. Among other things, the Commission is considering proposing an amendment to Rule 180 that would codify a present "no-action" position regarding the situation where a financially unsophisticated employer has already established a plan for its employees without obtaining advice from an independent expert, and intends either to change the funding medium or add another funding medium to the choices already available to employees. The issuer of the funding medium in such a case would be in compliance with the rule if the issuer has reasonable grounds to believe and, after having made reasonable inquiry, does believe, that an independent financial expert reviewed the funding medium prior to the investment of the (cont)

Abstract: The proposed rules would exempt certain persons from the requirements of Section 11(a) of the Investment Company Act. That section prohibits any registered open-end investment company and its principal underwriter from making an offer to a shareholder to exchange his security for another security on any basis other than the relative net asset values of the respective securities to be exchanged, unless the terms have been submitted to and approved by the Commission or comply with rules the Commission may prescribe. Section 11(c) states in part that the terms of any offer of exchange involving the securities of registered unit investment trusts must also be submitted to and approved by the Commission or comply with rules the Commission may prescribe. Proposed rule 11a-3 would permit a mutual fund or its principal underwriter to make certain exchange offers to its own shareholders or to shareholders of another fund in the same family of funds. Proposed rule 11c-1 would permit a unit investment trust or its sponsor to make certain exchange offers to unit holders of the same series or another series of the same trust or to unit holders of another unit investment trust

Abstract: On December 10, 1982, the Commission issued an advance concept release (Investment Company Act Release No. 12888, (47 FR 56509)) soliciting public comment on whether the Commission should propose rules or recommend legislation which would provide for an alternative form of mutual fund governance. Specifically, this release requests comment on whether mutual funds should be exempted from shareholder voting and/or director requirements under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Act") and, if so, whether conditions could be fashioned which would adequately insure against loss of investor protection. Although such changes might be effected through rulemaking, the Commission has indicated that, in its preliminary judgment, changes of this magnitude should be effected through legislative rather than administrative action. Since the costs and benefits of providing for an alternative scheme of mutual fund governance cannot be estimated at the present time, the release solicits specific comment on the costs and benefits which would result from such changes. Extension of comment period until April 18, 1983 was announced in Investment Company Act Release No. 13012 (cont)

Abstract: Rule 17j-1 requires every access person of a registered investment company, or of an investment adviser or principal underwriter for the investment company to report to the investment company certain of his securities transactions. The Commission is considering whether to propose an amendment to this rule which would reduce the reporting requirement for investment company directors who are interested persons with respect to the investment company by reason of their affiliation with a registered broker-dealer. Members of the industry have characterized these reporting requirements as unnecessarily burdensome in some instances. Any such rule amendment would have the effect of lessening the reporting requirements currently imposed by the rule. As a result, the staff believes that the costs, which should be insignificant, of complying with any amendment would be significantly less than the benefits it would provide. The Commission is also considering whether to amend Rule 12 j-1 to define specified acts as fraudulent, deceptive or manipulative or to require certain minimum standards to be set forth on a company's code of ethics. (con't)

Abstract: Absent an exception, every solicitation of a proxy, authorization or consent in respect of any security with respect to which a registered investment company is the issuer, is subject to rules adopted pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and the Investment Company Act of 1940 concerning solicitations of proxies. Solicitations to which the rules apply may not commence unless each person solicited is furnished or has previously been furnished with a proxy statement containing specified information prepared in accordance with certain rules and the material has been filed with the Commission. The existing proxy rules were adopted in piecemeal fashion and have been the subject of frequent changes. This has led to certain duplicative and, in certain cases, complex requirements. There does not currently exist a basis upon which to quantify the reduced costs and burdens of such action on those registrants affected. Since the action will apply to all registered investment companies soliciting proxies, unless the solicitation is exempted, the Action is expected to have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. The Commission believes a simplified prospectus is necessary because current prospectuses have become too cumbersome for the average investor to understand and because current requirements result in the disclosure of much information that is not necessarily material to an investment decision. Simplification will, therefore, make disclosure easier for investors to understand and reduce the costs and burdens of preparing and distributing prospectuses. Accordingly, the Commission is proposing a new form N-2A that most likely would be structured as a three-part form, one part of which would be a new simplified prospectus. Abstract: Proposed Rule 17 clarifies under what conditions diversification into non-utility enterprises would not be deemed detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers within the meaning of the "unless and except" clause of S3(a)(1) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. The rule would provide two alternative "safe harbors". A companion proposed amendment to rule 2 under the Act would require after three years from the proposal date, claims of exemption under rule 2, in order to be effective, would require that the claimant meet one of the safe harbor provisions of rule 17. Also proposed is an amendment to Form U-3A-2, the statement filed annually by holding companies claiming exemptions under rule 2, that would request information necessary to determine whether a rule 2 claim of exemption by an intrastate holding company was meritorious in light of the requirement added to rule 2. These proposals could significantly increase regulatory compliance costs for those intrastate public utility holding companies that have operations, or that intend to do so. The proposals could require such a company to forego acquisition of an unrelated non-utility

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Proposed Rule 15a-6 is the Commission's response to the cross-border activities of foreign broker-dealer registration requirements. The proposed rule would exempt from these requirements foreign entities that engage in securities transactions with certain non-U.S. persons, or with specified U.S. institutional investors under certain limited conditions. The staff believes that this alternative is superior to relying on the interpretive process, since the internationalization of the world's securities markets has increased greatly the number of requests for interpretive advice received by the staff. The Commission believes that, to the extent that the proposed rule, if adopted, would impose any costs on registered broker-dealer affiliates of eligible foreign broker-dealers of have a competitive effect on other domestic broker-dealers, those costs are not significant and would not impact on a substantial number of small domestic broker-dealers; also, the exemption under the rule would be limited to foreign broker-dealers, which need not be considered under 5 USC 603.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-6(c); 15 USC 80a-37(a)

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In Investment Company Act Release No. 11391 (October 10, 1980) (45 FR 69479) the Commission proposed for public comment Rule 3a-4, which would deem investment management services providing their clients with individualized treatment not to be investment companies for purposes of the Act. The rule provides a "safe harbor" for any investment manager providing its clients with treatment based on the needs and goals of each client. Under such circumstances, regulation of investment management services under the Act appears unnecessary. The proposed rule was intended to clarify the Commission's position on the question of "mini-accounts" by providing a safe harbor for certain investment management services and thereby provide some certainty to the public. The Commission does not expect any final action taken on the proposal to significantly affect the cost of providing investment management services. The public comment letters on the proposal have been reviewed and alternatives for final action are being considered.

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.17g-1

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Commission is considering whether to adopt an amendment to Rule 17g-1 under the Investment Company Act. The amendment was proposed for public comment in Investment Company Act Release No. 11193 (June 2, 1980) (45 FR 38407). Rule 17g-1 requires every registered investment company to provide and maintain a bond against larceny and embezzlement covering officers and employees of the company. In some circumstances, the officers and employees of a company's depositor, trustee, investment adviser or other manager and various affiliates of such persons, because they have access to the company's assets, function as officers and employees of the investment company. The proposed amendment to the rule would clarify the scope of the rule by explicitly requiring the bonding of such persons. The principal cost associated with this rule would be the cost of a bond. That cost would vary according to the persons required to be bonded by the rule. In this regard, before adopting any amendment to the rule, the Commission will carefully consider what persons should be bonded to protect investors adequately, weighing the benefits of the protection against the cost of a bond.

Abstract: On March 9, 1987, the Commission re-proposed for public comment Form N-7, a new form for registering unit investment trusts ("VITS") and their securities under the Investment Company Act of 1940 and the Securities Act of 1933. Form N-7 was originally proposed by the Commission on May 14, 1985. Adoption of Form N-7 would (i) codify the disclosure requirements for VITS into one form; (ii) codify the disclosure standards that have been developed for VITS; and (iii) shorten and simplify the prospectus used in connection with the sale of units in both the initial offering and in the secondary market maintained by the sponsor. As re-proposed, a one-part prospectus originally proposed, but the prospectus would retain a series specific part and a generic part. The requirement for audited financial statements would be eliminated under certain circumstances. The requirement that registrants include certain third party financial statements in the registration statement would be extended to insurers as well as guarantors of portfolio securities of the trust under the re-proposal.

Abstract: The Commission is proposing three new forms to serve as cover sheets to examination certificates filed by accountants in compliance with rules 17f-1(b)(4) and 17f-2(f) under the Investment Company Act of 1940 and rule 206(4)-2(a)(5) under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. These forms, and related rule amendments, are intended to ensure that examination certificates are properly filed and thus easily accessible. Because the forms are only cover sheets for documents currently required to be filed, there would be no significant cost or burden for compliance.

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 240.19c-4

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Rule 19c-4 is the Commission's response to the disenfranchisement and existing shareholders as a result of corporate action which would have the effect of nullifying, restricting or disparately reducing the per share voting rights of the existing shareholders. Such a diminution on limitation of voting rights is inconsistent with the investor protection and fair corporate suffrage policies embodied in Sections 6(b)(5), 15A(b)(6) and 14 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Rule 19c-4 will enhance investor protection by preventing shareholders from being disenfranchised of their voting rights. The Rule is not intended to prohibit the adoption of disparate voting plans; it is only intended to prevent adoption of such plans under circumstances that would disenfranchise existing shareholders. The Commission believes the costs of such a limitation do not outweigh the benefits derived from protecting shareholders from potential disenfranchisement. Under the Rule a range of capital raising techniques will still be available to issuers, no issuer will be denied the ability to raise additional equity capital.

Because compliance with MSRB rules is enforced by appropriate regulatory agencies and the NASD, rather than the MSRB, the rule is intended to ensure that the MSRB has access to relevant information about compliance with its rules. The rule contains certain safeguards to maintain the confidentiality of the information made available to the MSRB.

Abstract: Section 17(a)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. s78q, provides that the securities and Exchange Commission shall prescribe by rule the records to be kept and the reports to be made and disseminated by broker-dealers. Under that section, the Commission has adopted Rule 17a-5, which is the basic reporting rule for broker-dealers. It requires the filing of Form X-17A-5, the Financial and Operational Combined Uniform Single ("FOCUS") Report and other necessary information. The FOCUS Report was designed to eliminate all of the overlapping regulatory reports required by various self-regulatory groups and the Commission and to reduce reporting burdens as much as possible. Rule 17a-5 should be continued without change.

Abstract: Section 19(b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act") was added by the Investment Company Amendments Act of 1970, Public Law 91-547 ("1970 Act") [84 Stat. 1422], effective December 14, 1971, to make it unlawful, in contravention of such rules as the Commission may adopt, for any registered investment company to distribute long-term capital gains more often than once every twelve months. The section was added to relieve managers from pressure to realize such gains on a frequent and regular basis, mitigate improper sales practices related to the distribution of such gains, and eliminate the administrative expenses attending quarterly or semi-annual capital gains distributions. Rule 19b-1 implements Section 19(b) by limiting distribution with respect to the long-term capital gains realized by the company during any one taxable year, with certain exceptions.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Section 24(e)(3) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), which was added by Public Law No. 577, 83rd, Congress, requires that a prospectus relating to a security issued by a face-amount certificate company or a redeemable security issued by an open-end management investment company or unit investment trust "which varies for the purposes of subsection (a)(3) of Section 10 of the Securities Act of 1933 from the latest prospectus filed as a part of the registration statement" must be requirements of Section 10 of the 1933 Act, except to the extent the Commission otherwise provides by rules and regulations. Some questions arose as to the scope of the above quoted language of Section 24(e)(3). The Commission believes that this language refers to a prospectus which is prepared for the purpose of providing more current information, in compliance with that Section because the information therein is no longer sufficiently current to meet the statutory requirements; however,

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.24b-1; 17 CFR 270.24b-2; 17 CFR 270.24b-3

Abstract: Rule 24b-1 was adopted to clarify certain terms used in Section 24(b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940. Rule 24b-2 was adopted to identify documents filed to comply with Section 24(b). Before its adoption, investment companies tended to forward a variety of documents without properly indicating the purpose for which they were filing such materials. Rule 24b-3 was adopted to relieve investment companies which file their sales literature and ads with the National Association of Securities Dealers of their obligation to file the same materials with the Commission. Most investment company sales literature originates from firms which belong to the NASD. NASD members must file sales literature, including investment company sales literature, for NASD review under the NASD Rules of Fair Practice. The NASD reviews each piece of sales literature it receives for compliance with its rules and the Commission's rules.

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.24e-2

Abstract: Section 24(e)(1) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), provides that registration statements under the Securities Act of 1933 (15 U.S.C. 77a-77aa) ("1933 Act") relating to securities of certain investment companies, including open-end management companies, may be amended after their effective dates so as to increase the securities specified therein as proposed to be offered. Most open-end management companies offer their shares on a continuous basis, and almost all of those companies making such a continuous offering use the procedure permitted by Section 24(e)(1) of the Act to increase, from time to time, the number of registered shares being offered. Rule 24e-2 provides an optional method for calculation of registration fees by open-end investment companies registering additional shares by requiring fees only for those shares being registered in excess of the number of shares redeemed or repurchased.
